RECOVERY IN STOCK MARKETS GAINS MOMENTUM

DUBLIN

Trading was only of moderate dimensions on the Dublin Stock Exchange yesterday, but local securities presented a steadier appearance. The feature was the strength of leading industrials, and although this group was quiet here, the few counters that did change hands reflected the much improved tone from the other side.

Home Government Funds held steady to firm, with the exception of 4 p.c. Conversion Loan, which eased to 98½. British Funds came in for strong late support, and 3½ p.c. War Loan closed a point up at 97. Banks remained dull, and Bank of Ireland stock fell a point to 240 and Nationals eased to 27/6.

Guinness units enjoyed strong local support all day, and they were 2/9 higher at the close. The Pref. made good headway to 12. Dublin Tram Ord. hardened to 8/-, but the "A" Deb. dipped to 84. Alliance Gas Ord. gave way to 19/6, and Ranks (Ireland) Pref. declined to 23/-. Clondalkin Paper Ord. and Independent "B" Ord. marked small shrinkages, but other issues held up well.

Imperial Tobaccos spurted 8/10½ to 83/9, and Woolworth Ord. advanced sharply to 44/3, while Coats Ord. rose to 25/3.

Associated Breweries.—Profit £88,903 (against £109,408). Final Ord. dividend of 5 p.c., making 8 p.c. (against 10 p.c.).

Bantam (Java) Rubber.—Dividend of 10 p.c. (against 4 p.c.).

Dooars Tea Co.—Net profit £58,443, which is £14,374 more than in 1938. Ord. dividend maintained at 10 p.c.

Eastwoods Flettons.—Dividend of 3d. per share on the 1/- Deferred shares. A final of 4 p.c., making 9 p.c. (against 12 p.c.), is also announced on the 8 p.c. Participating Prefd.-Ord. Trading profit £38,308 and net profit of £23,625, compared with £53,758 and £38,579 respectively.

Empire of India and Ceylon Tea Co.—Net profit £57,316 (against £48,401). Total distribution unchanged at 7½ p.c.

Fisher and Ludlow.—After an additional £32,500 had been provided for taxation (making the total £65,500), net profit for the year to March 31 was decreased to £85,071 from £90,832 in 1938-39. Ordinary dividend is cut to 12½ per cent., less tax, from 15 per cent.; carry forward drops to £55,633 from £107,592.

Grout and Co.—The balance of the profit and loss account for the year to April 30 is £19,296, against £13,699. The Ordinary dividend is repeated at 5 per cent., less tax, and the amount carried forward is increased by £9,220 to £19,416.

Gold Mines of Kalgoorlie.—Profit £132,244—increase of £32,581 compared with previous period. Total dividend 10½d. per unit (8¾ p.c.) (same).

Hampstead Garden Suburb Trust.—Profit for year to March 31, £5,886. Final dividend 2½ per cent., making 5 per cent. Forward, £3,035.

H. M. Hobson (Aircraft and Motor) Components.—No interim, against 5 per cent.

Isa Bheel Tea.—Profit on 1939 working, £10,462 (against £10,667). Final dividend 10 per cent., less tax (same), making 12½ per cent. for year (against 15 per cent.). Forward, £4,195 (against £4,275).

Ideal Building and Land Development.—Report for 1939 shows combined trading profits, less losses of subsidiaries, at £34,423 (against £168,180). Net profit, before tax, is £28,733 (against £156,709); income tax and N.D.C. absorbs £46,658 (against £30,333), leaving debit balance of £16,428. Sum of £20,000 brought in from general reserve leaves credit balance of £3,572 to be carried forward, £1,497. Preference dividend requiring £17,875 paid out of Preference dividend reserve fund. In 1938 Ordinary received 5 per cent.

Jorehaut Tea.—Increase of £29,303 to £91,073 in profits. Year's dividend maintained at 10 per cent.

John Summers and Sons.—Net profit rose to £485,465 from £221,207 in 1938. As already announced, final dividends are recommended of 4½ per cent. on the "A" Ordinary stock and 3½ per cent. on the "B" Ordinary stock, both less tax, making totals for the year 8½ per cent. and 4½ per cent. respectively. In 1938 no Ordinary dividend was paid, but the dividend on the 7½ per cent. Preference shares was met. Since then the Preference shares have been converted into 2,000,000 units of "A" Ordinary stock and a further 2,000,000 have been created, thus the issued capital has, with 2,000,000 units of "B" Ordinary stock, been increased to £6,000,000, against £3,711,815 on December 31, 1938. The balance carried forward is £131,421, against £315,920. A combined profit and loss account of John Summers and Sons and its subsidiary companies operating in the United Kingdom shows that group profits last year totalled £1,068,745, against £387,305 in 1938.

Langkapoera (Sumatra) Rubber.—Dividends of 10 p.c. on Pref. and of 8 p.c. on Ord. (Ord. distribution last year 2½ p.c.).

Lovell and Christmas.—Ordinary dividend, after two years' abstention, 6 per cent., less tax, being recommended for the year ended June 8. Net profits rose to £169,802 from £104,499 in 1938-39, according to a preliminary statement.

Olds Discount.—No interim (against 5 p.c.).

Pusing Rubber and Tin.—Net profit £5,139 (against £1,379). Final dividend of 5 p.c., making 7½ p.c. (against nil); forward £1,369 (against £1,043).

Singlo Tea Company.—Net profit £46,150 (against £37,911). The Ord. dividend is maintained at 12 p.c.

Southern Kinta Consolidated.—Final dividend of 12½ p.c., also interim of 5 p.c. on account of current year. Together with three interims totalling 12½ p.c. already paid, final makes total distribution of 25 p.c., less tax, for year paid on present issued capital. For previous year final distribution was 2½ p.c., making 10 p.c., less tax, for that year, of which first 2½ p.c. was on old capital.

Sanitas Trust.—Net profit for year to May 31, 1940, £50,173 (against £62,401). Final Ordinary dividend 7½ per cent., making 12½ per cent., less tax. Forward, £8,629.

Thistle-Etna Gold Mines.—Dividend of 10 per cent. for the year.

Trustees Corporation.—Revenue account for the year ending May 31 shows a credit of £91,355, against £114,320 in 1938-1939. A final Ordinary dividend of 7 per cent., less tax, makes the total for the year 10 per cent. (same); forward £78,239, against £72,808.

United British Oilfields of Trinidad, Ltd.—Revenue from oil has risen nearly £500,000 to a new high level of £2,044,588, and, as other receipts are more than doubled at £72,177, against £30,264, total revenue of £2,116,765 shows an advance of £540,249. The net profit of £134,393 is £50,968 more than in 1938. As announced on June 22, a dividend of 8½ per cent., less tax, is to be paid on the Ordinary shares, compared with nil in 1938, and this distribution leaves the carry forward £12,495 higher at £34,557.

Upper Assam Tea.—Profit for 1939, £45,169 (against £32,763). Dividend 15 per cent., less tax (same). Forward, £81,219.

Willsons (London and Provinces).—Profit for year to January 31, 1940, £59,133 (against £29,226). Full year's dividend on 7½ per cent. Preference and 5 per cent. Preference to September 30, 1939, paid, and Board recommends Ordinary dividend of 2½ per cent., less tax (against nil), leaving carry forward at £4,482.

KEATING'S KILLS BEETLES, MOTHS, FLEAS

LONDON

London Stock markets gave a colourful display yesterday, the recent recovery gaining momentum under the influence of new buying, which embraced a wide range of issues. Demand was forthcoming right from the start, and with gilt-edged stocks leading the way, in anticipation of reinvestment of a substantial portion of the £100,000,000 of 4½ p.c. Conversion Loan repayment, most sections advanced steadily to close at their best.

Industrials played a prominent part in the revival, and final gains in many of the leaders exaggerated the volume of actual support. Tobaccos were particularly strong, and Distillers, Courtaulds, Molasses and Chemicals all showed up well. Steel shares formed another bright group in reflection of the rise in steel prices. Exceptionally, Oil shares provided little of interest, the market generally showing an uncertain trend in sympathy with "Shells," which sagged owing to disappointment with the full report.

WAR LOANS' ADVANCE

Gilt-edged securities showed little material change during the early stages, but around midday quotations developed a strong tone, and this became more marked in later dealing. Old War Loan was eventually 1⅛ better at 97⅝, whilst Conversion 3½ p.c. and Local Loans added a point and ¾ respectively. The new War Loan put on ⅜ to 99⅛.

Foreign Bonds pursued their recent dull path, and occasional sales of Brazilian issues supplied the bulk of a small turnover. Far Easterns were barely tested, and the only movement of note among Europeans was a decline to 22 in Belgian Fours.

British Rails found a place among the more favoured issues and, although demand left much to be desired, nearly all the junior stocks improved upon the higher levels reached on Friday. London Transport "C" rebounded to 26, Great Western added a point to the same level, and L.M.S. Ord. put on ¾ to 11½. The prior charges joined in the advance, with L.M.S. 1923 Pref. and L.N.E. 4 p.c. 1st Pref. setting the pace. Other rails remained in the background, and Argentines seldom revealed important change.

MOST INDUSTRIALS CLOSE AT BEST

A more confident tone prevailed in the Industrial market. Good support from the provincial centres assisted the upward movement, and in most cases closing quotations were the best of the day. A further increase in Iron and Steel prices had a beneficial effect on the share concerned in that section, and many of the leading Equities recorded substantial improvements. Dealers reported a better turnover in virtually all sections.

For reasons stated above Iron and Steel shares came in for renewed attention. Guest Keen advanced 2/6 to 17/6, B.S.A. 1/6 to 15/-, Babcocks 1/3 to 32/6, John Brown 1/9 to 17/6, Colvilles 1/6 to 15/-, Stewarts and Lloyds Deferred 1/3 to 31/3, and Vickers 1/3 to 12/6.

Conversely, Aircrafts and Motors had an uncertain appearance; Dennis weakened to 10/-, Morris Motors to 17/-, Austins to 9/-, and Hawker Siddeleys to 7/6. Fords, however, put on 3d., and Handley Page, Faireys and Triplex Glass improved, and Raleigh Cycle rose ¼ to 1½. Electrical Equipments moved irregularly.

Apart from South African Ordinary, which gave way to 86/6, Breweries continued in the ascendant. Distillers strengthened to 55/- ex div., Barclays to 11/-, Courage to 40/-, Guinness to 53/-, Ind Coope to 54/6, Meux to 13/3, and Watney Deferred to 36/9. In the Tobacco section "Imps" took the lead with an advance of ¼ to 4¼. "Bats" touched 3⅞ at one time, closing only 1/16 better at 3⅝. Carreras, Godfrey Phillips and Tobacco Securities were all 1/16 better.

Most of the interest in Stores centred around Woolworths, which finished 1/6 to the good at 44/-. Among Provision and Catering issues Lovell and Christmas went ahead to 12/6 on the resumption of Ordinary dividend payments with 6 per cent. Tate and Lyell improved to 40/-, and Aerated Bread to 5/3.

In other directions Courtaulds further advanced 1/10½ to 25/-, Dunlops 9d. to 23/3, Imperial Chemicals 1/3 to 23/-, Turner and Newall 1/16 to 2⅜, Radiation 3/- to 18/6, Murex ¼ to 2⅝, Boots Drug 1/- to 32/6, British Oxygen 1/16 to 2⅜, and Lever and Unilever 1/6 to 19/- ex div. Shipping issues were exceptionally dull. Elder Dempster Holdings declined to 17/-, and France Fenwick to 19/-.

MINES MOVE AGAINST GENERAL TREND

In contrast with most other sections of the Stock Exchange, conditions in the Kaffir market deteriorated yesterday, and at the close losses were general. There was little business at the start owing to the deduction of dividends, but as far as could be judged the undertone was firm. Later, however, persistent sales were encountered, some of which were believed to be on behalf of French refugees, and with buyers holding off on vague reports of political unrest in South Africa prices were quickly lowered.

The dividend-payers suffered chiefly. East Geduld lost ¼ to 7¾, and falls of 1/16 to 3/16 took place in many others. Among the Finance Shares, General Mining were notably depressed at 2½ or ¼ down. Gold Fields lost 1/16 to 1⅛, and similar declines were marked in African and European, Anglo-French and Rand Selections. The Developing Mines usually closed lower.

West Africans were quietly firm, with Ashantis a further 1/16 up at 1 21/32. Rhodesian Coppers were a better market. Rhokanas improved ⅛ to 6 and Roans 7½d. to 8/1½, while Selection Trusts at 5/3 were 6d. to the good. Diamonds, on the other hand, were dull. Anglo-Americans dropped 1/16 to ⅝, and small declines were recorded by "Casts" and Cons. Diamonds. Tin Shares were neglected.

OILS AND RUBBERS

Sentiment in the Oil Share market yesterday was unmistakably dampened at the start of business by the highly discouraging "Shell" Transport and Trading results. Following the initial uncertainty, however, conditions quickly improved, and by the close the market had regained Friday's improved tone. A fairly good business was put through in "Shells." During the early hours they were marked down to 1½, but recovered, and finally closed only 1/32 lower on balance at 1 19/32. Burmahs closed 3/32 to the good at 2½, while Anglo-Iranians were a similar amount higher at the close at 1 17/32. In other directions, Attocks continued in request at 1 7/16. Trinidad issues were quieter, and mostly unaltered. Elsewhere, Mexican Eagles finished the turn easier at 3/4½, while Lobitos were fractionally easier. British Borneos were marked down 1/- to 7/6. Some of the Preference issues were in demand.

Conditions in the Rubber Share market failed to show any marked improvement yesterday. Although the amount of stock coming in was still modest, interest in the market failed to broaden. A few of the leading issues attracted some attention, and modest gains were recorded in some instances. Among the leading shares, Rubber Trusts put on 6d., and Anglo-Dutch were quoted ex-dividend.

THE MONEY MARKET

The release of about £100,000,000 in respect of the redemption of the "Dissented" Conversion Loan, together with heavy interest disbursements on Government and other stocks, resulted in the expected abundance of credit in Lombard Street yesterday. Both clearing and non-clearing quarters were ready lenders for the night, thus overnight loans were easily obtained at 1 p.c. The abundance of credit provided a stimulus to the demand for bills. The banks were ready buyers of August and September dates at the customary 1 p.c. minimum, and a considerable inquiry for paper from other quarters was also reported. In consequence, the best quality three months' commercial draft was not infrequently missed at 1 1/32 p.c.

Silver was a little firmer, spot gaining 1/16d. to 21 11/16d. per ounce and forward 5/16d. to reach parity with the spot quotation. Bear covering operations were reported.

The Foreign Exchange market in London was lifeless, alterations in rates being limited to minor adjustments in Baltic and Balkan currencies.

£50,000 LOAN FROM THE NORTH

Mr. J. M. Andrews, Northern Minister of Finance, has received from the chairman of a Northern Ireland company, and forwarded to the British Chancellor of the Exchequer, a cheque for £50,000 as a loan for war expenditure, free of interest. Cheques for smaller amounts have also been transmitted, and one Northern Ireland citizen has sent a substantial sum as an advance payment of the whole of his income tax for next year.

MARGARINE POOL FORMED

All the margarine and compound cooking fat manufacturers of the United Kingdom have decided for the period of the war to pool their resources, sink their individual identities, and give up their brand names. This was announced last night by the Margarine Manufacturers' Association, which says that the industry will operate as one company under the name of Marcom, Limited.

WOOL

BRADFORD—A moderate amount of business is being done in yarns for home civilian trade, but export business in semi-manufactured is almost at a standstill. Announcements of allocations of wool for July has resulted in some new orders being accepted but only for early delivery. Spinners quotations for botany and cross-bred yarns unchanged.

TWO SOLDIERS SHOT

An inquest on two soldiers who were found shot was opened at Bridlington (Yorks) last night. The name of one was given as Corporal Logan and the other Private Thomas W. H. Steele. It was stated that Logan had a bullet wound in the brain, and Steele a bullet wound in the right side of the chest. A third soldier detained by the Bridlington police has been handed over to the military authorities.

A DULL DAY ON WALL STREET

STOCKS CLOSED EASY

From Reuter's Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Monday.

Pending clarification of developments in the Balkans, Wall Street stepped warily to-day. Moreover, the effects of the new taxes on industry are creating caution. In the meantime many expect a quiet downward drift in view of the approaching holiday on Thursday (Independence Day). The turnover of 270,000 shares comprised 558 issues, of which 159 advanced and 271 declined.

Early trading was very dull and uninteresting, with prices fractionally lower. The Steels were soft, and the Rails and Utilities were neglected. The market declined anything to the point in sluggish dealings in the afternoon. The market remained in the doldrums, and finished mostly fractions to a point lower.

The close was easy.

Sterling exchange opened 2 points lower at $3.80, and closed 1½ points down at $3.80½. Silver was unchanged at 34¾c.

SUPPORT GAELIC LEAGUE

APPEAL TO THE YOUNG

From Our Correspondent.

CLAREMORRIS, Monday.

"A nation without its language is only half a nation, said Dr. Conor Maguire, Claremorris, when he opened the Aeridheacht here. If the children suported the Gaelic League the distinctive Irish nationality of our country would be saved, he added. It was the Gaelic League, he said, that cultivated our national enthusiasm, and taught our people national self-respect. It showed us that we were a distinctive Irish nation. Every nation should persevere and respect its language, which forms a stronger buttress than fort or river.

RETIRED POLICEMAN'S ESTATE

ADMINISTRATION OF £5,000

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE GAVAN DUFFY.)

Direction was given that a scheme should be settled for the administration of about £5,000, part of the residuary estate of John McMahon, retired policeman and farmer, Keelagh, Redhills, County Cavan, which had been bequeathed to the Rev. John Dolan, C.C., Belturbet, to be distributed by him in his absolute discretion among the poor of Killoughter district of Cavan.

It appeared that when Mr. McMahon died it was thought that the value of his residuary estate amounted to £500, but subsequently information was received from an American lawyer that there were assets of Mr. McMahon in American banks, and the executors had been able to collect over £5,000 on foot of them.

Mr. McGonigal, K.C., who, with Mr. Lavery, K.C., and Mr. M. McGilligan (instructed by Mr. Aidan E. R. MacCabe), appeared for the Rev. John Dolan, said that, as the corpus of the fund had now turned out so large, Father Dolan did not consider that he could distribute it in specie among the poor of Killoughter district without making an inequitable distribution to some to the disadvantage of others. It was necessary, therefore, that a scheme should be settled to deal with the fund.

Mr. Walter Molony (instructed by Mr. John S. O'Cononr) appeared for the Attorney-General.

PREVENTION OF INTEMPERANCE

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Irish Association for the Prevention of Intemperance at 110 Grafton street, Dublin, on Friday last, Mr. Fred T. Eason, Chairman, presided, and there were also present:—Miss I. M. Jones, Mrs. W. G. Lindsay, the Rev. J. C. Breakey, B.A.; the Rev. H. M. Watson, Messrs. W. Smyth, Herbert G. Smith, M.A., LL.D.; George Willoughby, M.A., and the Secretary.

At the opening of the meeting, the chairman moved a vote of sympathy with Mrs. Claire Weir (a member of the committee), on the death of her brother, and it was passed in the usual manner.

The chairman made a statement on the financial position of the Association, and made reference to the appeals for support recently circulated.

It was noted that the Act incorporating Howth Urban District into the City of Dublin, when it comes into operation, will end the abuses of the Sunday night bona-fide traffic of recent years at that place.

The Committee adjourned until 25th July, 1940.

INDIGESTION

Relieved Instantly!

'Milk of Magnesia' sweetens a sour acid stomach, and relieves acute gastric pain, in almost as little time as it takes to tell. For stomach troubles, indigestion, flatulence, heartburn, sick headache and acidity; for furred tongue, nausea and upset stomach caused by foods that disagree, there is no finer remedy the world over than 'Milk of Magnesia.'

The relief it gives is marvellous—instantaneous! And remember 'Milk of Magnesia' is absolutely harmless. It does its wonderful work by assisting nature. It neutralizes the harmful acids and gently eliminates the fermenting poisons from the system. Doctors prescribe it extensively.

Next time you have indigestion take 'Milk of Magnesia' as directed. You will be delighted at the comfort it brings. Get either the liquid preparation or the remarkable new 'Milk of Magnesia' brand Tablets. They're delightful to take and you can carry them in your pocket or purse. Each tablet is equal to a teaspoonful of the liquid.

Obtainable everywhere.

'Milk of Magnesia' 1/3 and 2/6 (Treble Size) Also 'Milk of Magnesia' Tablets 6d., 1/-, 2/- and 3/6.

'MILK OF MAGNESIA'

'Milk of Magnesia' is the trade mark of Phillips' preparation of Magnesia.

MRS. ISEULT STUART

CASE HEARD IN CAMERA

The Special Criminal Court at Collins Barracks, Dublin, yesterday, decided to hear in camera the case against Mrs. Iseult Stuart, Laragh Castle, Co. Wicklow. The case for the prosecution had not concluded when the Court adjourned until to-day.

Mrs. Stuart is charged with assisting to interfere with the apprehension of a person who had committed an offence under Section 5 of the Emergency Powers Act, 1939, and that while detained in custody under the Offences Against the State Act, 1939, she failed and refused to give all the information in her possession in relation to the commission by another person of a scheduled offence (that of preventing, hindering or interfering with the apprehension of a person unknown who had committed the offence of having possession of a means of secretly conveying, receiving or recording information).

Mr. J. A. McCarthy, K.C., who, with Mr. R. McLoughlin, K.C., and Mr. G. D. Murnaghan (instructed by Mr D. O'Donovan, Chief State Solicitor's office), prosecuted, said he had to ask the Court to sit in camera in respect of the entire case.

Mr. J. V. Nolan-Whelan, K.C. (instructed by Mr. C. McGonagle) defending, said that as the application was made on the responsibility of the Attorney-General he did not oppose, but the fact that it was held in camera would, naturally, give rise to whispers and his client's defence would not reach the public.

DUBLIN PUBLICAN'S ESTATE

THE CONSTRUCTION OF A WILL

The estate of Patrick Hedigan, late of Jury's Hotel, Dublin and Brian Boru House, Glasnevin, Dublin, was mentioned on a summons taken out by Patrick Conway, merchant, Parnell street, Dublin, and Robert J. Kidney, accountant, College Green, Dublin, executors and trustees of Mr. Hedigan's will of December 19, 1934, to have questions arising on the construction of the will and of a marriage settlement of June 5, 1909, determined.

Mr. Vincent Rice, K.C., who, with Mr. T. G. Burke (instructed by Messrs. J. L. Burke and Co.), appeared for Mr. Conway and Mr. Kidney, said that £1,000 in favour of Mrs. Cecilia Hedigan, the widow, had been settled by the marriage settlement and had been charged on Brian Boru House. Mr. Hedigan left £8,000, subsequently increased to £10,000, to his widow, one of the executors and trustees of the will, and one of the questions to be determined was whether the £1,000 was payable out of the premises on which it had been charged or out of the residue. The residue had been left to John Hedigan, a nephew (to whom had been left Brian Boru House), and five brothers and sisters of John Hedigan. Two of the six residuary legatees were in Australia. There would be difficulty in getting in touch with these in the existing circumstances, and, as it would be necessary to have the residuary legatees parties, it was suggested that they ought to be represented here by the residuary legatees residing in Ireland. Mrs. Hedigan was entitled to the legacy of £10,000 and she claimed that £1,000 under the marriage settlement was payable to her.

Mr. C. Lavery, K.C., who, with Mr. Walter Molony (instructed by Mr. A. C. Paice), appeared for Mrs. Cecilia Hedigan (who was named as a defendant in the summons with John Hedigan), said that so far as he was concerned all he asked was that the executors should pay her charge in full.

Mr. Justice Gavan Duff agreed that the residuary legatees in Ireland should represent the residuary estate and that the matter should come up for disposal at a later date.

Mr. Paul McCarthy, K.C., and Mr. Kevin Kenny (instructed by Mr. M. A. Humphries) appeared for John Hedigan and Mr. T. V. Davy (instructed by Messrs. O'Hanlon and Robinson) for Jeremiah Hedigan, Galbally, Co. Limerick; Margaret (Peggy) Hedigan, Brian Boru House, Glasnevin, and Mrs. Bridget Tierney, Ballyhudane, Grange, Co. Limerick, the residuary legatees residing in Ireland. The other residuary legatees are Mrs. Mary Cahill (formerly Hedigan), Flat 11, Belbrae, 32 Fitzroy street, St. Kilda, Melbourne, and Josephine Hedigan, St. Anne's Hall, 1 Victoria street, Carlton, N. 3, Melbourne.

DUBLIN CIRCUIT COURT

BUILDER'S CLAIM

THE CONSTRUCTION OF FLATS

(BEFORE JUDGE DAVITT)

A decree for £193 was awarded to John Smyth, trading as John Smyth and Son, "Rostrevor," Kimmage road, West, builder, who claimed £258 from Samuel Poznansky, homeopathic physician and osteopath, 14 Leicester avenue, Rathgar, alleged to be due on foot of a contract for the conversion into flats of 34 Lower Baggot street, Dublin, and for extra work done.

The defendant denied liability, pleaded that as a condition precedent to liability the work should have been carried out to his entire satisfaction, and lodged £125 in Court.

In a counter-claim for breach of contract the defendant alleged that he had been at a loss of £238 owing to being unable to let the house.

A decree for £20 was awarded on the counter-claim, with costs.

Mr. C. Lavery, K.C., with Mr. J. J. L. Devlin (instructed by Mr. S. G. Rutherford), appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Ignatius Kelly (instructed by Mr. L. G. Carr Lett) represented the defendant.

SHANKILL DISTRICT COURT

RECEIVING CHARGE

(BEFORE MR. REDDIN).

Ernest McKeever, Plas Newyth, Killiney, County Dublin, was charged with receiving about 1,000 cauliflower plants, value £2 10s., knowing them to have been stolen.

McKeever said that he had a small market garden at Castlepark road, Sandycove. He had raised and put in about 450 cauliflowers, and he remarked to William Murphy, who was working for him, that it was a pity he had not more plants for the ground available. Murphy said he would get him some, and his brother brought him along about 650 plants, which, he said, he had got from a gardener. He gave two new bicycle tyres and 5s. for the plants. He had made a misleading statement at first to the Guards, as he did not want to get the Murphys into trouble. He did not at the time think the plants had been stolen.

The District Justice said there was a reasonable doubt in the case, and he dismissed it.

Superintendent Mooney prosecuted, and Mr. J. J. Devlin (instructed by Mr. P. C. L. Halpenny) defended.

DRIVER FINED

Thomas Quinlan, Lismore terrace, Kimmage, Dublin, D.U.T. Co. 'bus driver, was fined £2 and ordered to pay 15s. when convicted of driving his 'bus without due consideration. A similar charge against Walter Doyle, Calary, a lorry driver, with whose vehicle the 'bus came into collision, was dismissed.

Mr. Ernest Wood (instructed by Messrs. Stanuell and Sons) appeared for Walter Doyle, and Mr. Sean Ryan, solicitor, appeared for Thomas Quinlan.

THE DISAPPEARING BROWN TROUT

DR. HENRY STOKES'S LECTURE

Salmon fishing was the most important branch of fishing from the commercial point of view, but there was a great potential value in brown trout, which might be found in nearly every river and lake in the country, said Dr. Henry Stokes, when addressing the Dublin Rotary Club on "Fishing" yesterday.

Unfortunately, he continued, brown trout had been disappearing from Ireland at a remarkable rate during the past twenty years. The main cause for this disappearance was unknown, but contributory causes were pollution and the fact that the number of anglers had increased tenfold. Brown trout remained in season from April to September, and in England rivers which contained these fish were preserved and commanded as much as £100 per rod for a season. In Eire, where they had hundreds of rivers and lakes containing these fish, he knew of only two let for brown trout—the total rent of the two was about £15. Geographically and climatically speaking, the whole central plain of Ireland was a paradise for fishermen, yet there were people who went from England and Ireland to New Zealand to fish for brown trout.

There were many difficulties in developing this branch of angling in Ireland. These included lack of interest by riparian owners, the lack of money available to the Department, the problem of starting a hatchery where several million eggs could be hatched out (he knew of only one suitable place in the country), and of getting spawning fish.

Mr. R. W. Archer, who thanked Dr. Stokes for his paper, attributed the decline in the number of brown trout to the increase in vermin, the increased number of fishermen, and the quantity of food available on the beds of the streams, which were never cleaned. He considered that there was potential commercial value in damming small streams to enable them to carry more brown trout.

THE NEW PRESIDENT

The outgoing President of the club (Mr. John J. Keane) installed the new President (Mr. Arthur N. Pearson), who regretted that he should be occupying the position when Europe was torn with war. He hoped that Eire would be spared the horrors of war and that before his term of office expired a just and righteous peace would come to Europe. While the club would probably experience difficulties under prevailing conditions, they had greater opportunities for service than ever before.

Mr. Pearson and Mr J. Harold Aylward thanked the outgoing President for his services during his year of office.

FUNERAL

MR. GEORGE STAFFORD

There was a large attendance from many counties yesterday at the funeral of Mr. George Stafford, John street, Wexford, which took place after Office and Mass to St. Ibar's Cemetery. Mr. Stafford was one of the principal merchants in Wexford, and was also an extensive coal shipper and a landed proprietor. Like his brother, Mr. James J. Stafford, of Cromwell's Fort, Wexford, founder of the Wexford Steamship Company, he took an active interest in the development of the town and of its port trade.

BRITAIN'S ROADS CANNOT BE CAMOUFLAGED

The Press Association learns that experiments have been conducted by engineers of the British Ministry of Transport, in association with Air Ministry experts, to see whether, by use of camouflage, roads could be made invisible from the air.

The conclusion reached is that the roads are visible from the air because of their alignment and surroundings, such as junctions, buildings and hedges, and that effective disguise is not possible.

MOTOR NOTES

ROAD RACE ENTRIES

Forty-seven in the Dublin "Hundred"

By HAROLD C. BROWN

ON Saturday next the Dublin "Hundred" motor cycle road race takes place in the Phœnix Park, starting, according to the regulations, at 3.30 p.m.

The list of entries that I have received contains 47 names, which is an extraordinarily high total, considering the times in which we live. If the English boys had been able to get across, what an entry we should have had! Last year the Dublin "Hundred" entries totalled 55; in 1938 the total was 53; in 1937 it was 52; in 1936 it was 39; in 1935 it was 35, and in 1934 it was 48—showing that 1940 is well up to standard.

The list is as follows:—

Nortons: 500 c.c.—G. Lowry, A. Clancey, L. Duffy, A. E. G. Moore, R. Wagner, C. H. W. Manders; 350 c.c.—W. Robertson, J. Merriman, F. Brennan, W. R. Forrest, A. Parker, P. Tute, D. Napier.

Triumphs: 500 c.c.—R. McCandless, E. Lyons, A. J. Bell; 350 c.c.—R. Kenny, J. Dempsey; 250 c.c.—G. P. Ennis.

Velocettes: 350 c.c.—J. F. Manning, R. P. Farlow, J. E. Little, J. Reynolds, T. Carroll, J. Hayes, R. Drew.

Excelsiors: 350 c.c.—B. J. Mossop; 250 c.c.—W. Sunderland, P. D. Gill.

Rudges: 500 c.c.—V. Fortune, P. J. Nagle, J. K. Swan, T. Farrell, G. Kelly; 350 c.c.—T. G. Byrne, M. B. McAuley, J. Colley; 250 c.c.—J. Moorhead.

Scotts: 600 c.c.—M. Desmond; 500 c.c.—J. Egan.

B.S.A.s: 500 c.c.—J. Gibney, R. T. Hill; 350 c.c.—F. Jordan.

Ariel: 500 c.c.—B. B. Walsh.

New Imperial: 250 c.c.—F. Doolin.

O.K. Supreme: 250 c.c.—R. W. M. Tamplin.

R. McG. Special: 500 c.c.—J. McGrane.

Trevor McCalla

ONE of the stoutest supporters of motor racing under the aegis of the Irish Motor Racing Club was Lieutenant W. Trevor McCalla, R.N.V.R., who has been killed on active service. When we ran the first Phœnix Park meeting in 1932 he came down with a Bentley, and I remember clearly that when he paid me his £5 entry fee I was left with the impression that £5 to Trevor was as incidental as is five shillings to many of us.

He returned with both the Bentley and a Sullivan Special in 1933, and in 1934 he commenced his great series of successes in the ex-Segrave Sunbeam. He was the fastest at Bray in both 1934 and 1935, and fastest at Donaghadee in 1934. He was beaten by only two seconds at Bray in 1934, the thrilling finish, with the Sunbeam flashing to the finishing straight just as the flag was raised for Le Fanu, being one of the most exciting pieces in our racing history.

He won the Donaghadee race, which was the original County Down Trophy event, the County Down Trophy becoming the Ulster Trophy when the race was taken from Bangor to Ballyclare in 1937. He drove both Marendaz and Ford cars in the T.T., and in hill-climbs he had appeared in Amilcar, Riley, Bentley, and Lagonda machines.

A Big Figure

"IMPERTURBABLE . . . one of the leading lights of the Ulster Automobile Club . . . a 'star' of Irish motor racing till the modern Grand Prix machines started to appear." That is how I started a biography of Trevor in a motor sport series published in these notes in 1936. He was a really big figure in our race game, comparable with Sullivan, Manders, McCracken, Le Fanu, and MacArthur.

Apart from his racing success, he was a charming, friendly fellow, the sort of man you loved to see at any show, and from whom you knew there would be a happy greeting. I used to associate him with the late Hughie McFerran, for they often came down to Dublin together.

Lieut. McCalla was a director of the shipping firm founded by his father. He played Rugby football at one time for North of Ireland; he was a yachtsman and a golfer, and a member of the Masonic Order. He married in 1935, after which he did very little motor racing.

It is the natural condition of growing older that the list of men one mourns becomes greater. And Trevor McCalla was a man who mattered so much to everyone who had known his friendship!

The Life of a Sparking Plug

THE question of what should be the normal working life of a sparking plug is frequently raised, but it cannot very easily be answered, because of the enormous variation in conditions under which plugs have to operate.

A classical example of plug longevity came to notice some time ago when a Lodge plug removed from a 40 h.p. car was found to have been in use for 26 years. Whether or not this is a record, it is certainly a magnificently long spell of work. In spite of the fact that since 26 years ago plugs have been developed and improved out of all comparison with earlier designs, no plug working under modern conditions would be able to approach such a figure.

This, of course, is simply explained by the far greater efficiency of the modern engine. High compression, high revs., wide variation in running conditions, light running in traffic hold-ups, alternating with quick and frequent acceleration—these are factors which cars of twenty and more years ago never had to contend with.

In can fairly be said, in fact, that 20,000 miles of modern running conditions with a high compression engine represent as much wear and tear as a veteran car would experience in 20 years' life. High grade plugs, if they are treated with due care and periodically cleaned and adjusted, should have an efficient working life of at least 15,000 to 20,000 miles.

Ulster Centre Activity

MR. R. H. WRIGHT, chairman of the Ulster Centre of the Motor Cycle Union of Ireland, is in command of the motor cycle section of the Local Defence Volunteers in Belfast. Mr. W. Ryder is second-in-command. The section has been formed by the Union. A similar section may be formed in Londonderry under the ægis of the North of Ireland Club.

The Ards Club has published a year book containing a great deal of information about the club, various hints, tips, facts and formulæ, and the fixtures for the remainder of the year. The club, according to its constitution, has five objects. Four of these are similar to other clubs' objects; the fifth is "to ban the use of competition tyres in our events." I can understand such a ban as a matter of policy. To establish a club to attain such an object seems to be rather straining at a gnat.

As you may have surmised, the mice got at that paragraph headed "Drupaceous Item" in last week's notes, reducing it to the absurdity that appeared. The mice do not permit me to repeat what was taken out of it! Which is a pity, for it was very, very good.

ALEXANDRA COLLEGE

ENTRANCE SCHOLARSHIPS

Alexandra College will re-open on Wednesday, 11th September. Seven scholarships will be awarded on the result of an entrance examination to be held on 4th September, 1940, and the following days. The examination is open to all candidates under the age of 16 years on the 1st January, 1940. Special attention is directed to the scholarships of £90 endowed under the Gamble Trust. This scholarship, which provides for residence and education at Alexandra College for one year, will be awarded annually by nomination by the Lady Principal, and is intended to enable a student to prepare for entrance to a University. A test examination will be held.

The remaining scholarships range in value from £15 to £42. Special conditions are attached to the scholarships offered by the Governess Association of Ireland. The syllabus and full particulars may be had on application to the Lady Principal, Alexandra College, Dublin.

Bathers Rescued.—Miss May McClelland and Mr. Daniel McKenna, Ballymoney, while swimming at Portrush yesterday, got into difficulties, and their cries for help attracted the attention of Mr. David Hegarty, Portrush, who swam, fully clothed, to their assistance. Ropes were thrown from the shore and fastened to the bathers, who were then pulled ashore. Both wer in an exhausted state, and two doctors applied successfully respiratory treatment.

Hely's Staff Outing.—On Saturday last the staff of Messrs. Hely's, Limited, Dublin, held a most enjoyable outing to Bettystown via Ashtown, Slane, and through the picturesque King William's Glen to Mellifont, where there was a short stop. Most members of the party took this opportunity of inspecting the ruins of Mellifont Abbey, and went thence via Monasterboice to Drogheda and Bettystown, where high-tea was greatly appreciated after the long drive. Later in the evening there were various athletic competitions, followed by dancing.

MEN OF SELF-RESPECT USE

GILLETTE

In club or pub, at dominoes or darts, men's self-respect demands that they shall appear well-shaven; and from lord of the manor to labourer in the fields, they use the Gillette system. The one for its speed and efficiency; the other for its economy maybe. Certainly both for the sense of luxury it conveys, for no other shave gives so much sheer comfort at so little cost.

Gillette sets 2/- to 38/6, Blue Gillette Blades 5 for 1/8.

Toil and Trouble

When the last shot shall have been fired in the present war, and more than half the civilised world shall have been impoverished, one nation alone probably will emerge from the ruins with profit to itself. That nation is Soviet Russia. Since the days of Lenin and Trotsky the Russians have been playing a waiting game. They were attacked in the early days by the various "White" expeditions that sought to rally aristocratic and bourgeois opinion against Bolshevism—by Wrangel, Judenitch, Koltchak and the others. Then the Poles made war against them, and were saved from destruction by the military genius of General Weygand, who hurled the Red armies back from the very gates of Warsaw. Throughout the twenty-three years of the new State's existence the Bolsheviks had to face the active and passive hostility of virtually every other nation in the world. By far their bitterest enemy was National-Socialist Germany, whose leaders declared without ceasing that their main object was to crush Bolshevism in every shape and form; and although everybody knew that the German General Staff was more than anxious to improve relations with the Soviets, in order to prevent a war on two fronts, Germany's political leaders made it quite clear that they would not be satisfied until they should have had an Auseinandersetzung with the Russians, and should have banished from Europe the threat of Bolshevism for all time. Then came the imminent danger of a European war. The French had negotiated a pact with Moscow which fell to bits when Messrs. Daladier and Chamberlain made their agreement at Munich with Herr Hitler. Almost immediately afterwards the French and British Governments tried to come to terms with the Kremlin, and an Allied military mission actually was in Moscow immediately before the outbreak of hostilities last September. Polish recalcitrance, however, and the Russians' insistence on territorial adjustments along the Baltic coast brought these negotiations to nothing; and on the very eve of the war the world was astounded to learn that a non-aggression pact had been signed between Russia and Germany.

At the time, most people in Europe regarded the conclusion of this pact as a diplomatic triumph for the Germans, and Herr von Ribbentrop was fêted in his own country as a second Metternich; but those who had eyes to see took a somewhat different view, holding that the Germans had given everything and gained nothing, and that the real "hero" of the hour was Comrade Josef Stalin. Subsequent events have gone to show that they were right, and that the Germans had paid a high price for their August pact. In the first place, the Russians seized half of Poland, almost without the loss of a single man. Then, having threatened the smaller Baltic States, they made war on Finland, and, after a magnificent struggle by the Finns, had their will of the little Republic, strengthening their position enormously in the Eastern Baltic. Only a few weeks ago they put the crown on this achievement by the virtual annexation of Lithuania, Estonia and Latvia, taking the fullest advantage of Germany's preoccupations in France and elsewhere. Once again without loss to themselves, the Russians re-established the position that was held by the Tsarist Government before the Great War.

Now they have gone even farther. Having sent a hasty ultimatum to Rumania, they sent the Red Army into Bessarabia and the Northern Bukovina, relying once more on the fact that Germany had her hands full in other parts of the world, that France was hors de combat, and that, deprived of her former ally's assistance, Great Britain was unable to do anything to help the Rumanians. In sharp contradistinction to its performance in Finland, the Russian Army seems to have done its work in Rumania with remarkable efficiency. It was reported yesterday to be two and a half days ahead of Moscow's official schedule. By the skilful use of parachute troops it managed to occupy the town of Bolgrad before the retiring Rumanians had time to fall back upon it; and even if King Carol's Army had followed the example of the Finns, it would not have had a chance. There were skirmishes along the frontier; but the Russians had virtually no losses. Bessarabia and the Bukovina fell into their waiting hands like ripe fruit.

The present struggle between Germany and the Western democracies is merely the first phase of the ultimate war, which will be between Teuton and Slav. Sooner or later their interests will be bound to clash—if, indeed, they have not clashed already in the valley of the Danube. The Bolsheviks are the supreme "realists" of Europe. Nobody realises this fact more acutely than the Germans, who are said to be declaring now that Russia's invasion of Rumania was a British plot, instigated in Moscow by Sir Stafford Cripps, with the sole purpose to cause embarrassment to Herr Hitler. Manifestly it is causing acute embarrassment, and it is quite possible that ultimately it may bring about the extension of the war to South-Eastern Europe. Signor Mussolini is strongly opposed to Russian intervention in the Balkans. He also is anxious to help his Hungarian friends to recover Transylvania, as well as those provinces which were ceded to the Yugoslav State after the last war. King Carol of Rumania, who has been playing an ambiguous game, has appealed to Berlin for "advice," while at the same time denouncing the guarantee of territorial integrity that was given to Rumania by France and Great Britain fifteen months ago. The Germans are anxious to secure Rumanian good-will—and particularly Rumanian oil and soya beans. They do not wish to offend Signor Mussolini or the Magyars; and they are almost equally anxious to keep on the right side of the Yugoslavs. In order to please everybody, Herr von Ribbentrop will need all the skill of the most expert juggler. At the back of all the political intrigues that are at work in the Balkans is the patent fact of Russia's seizure of Bessarabia and the Bukovina, which has brought Moscow directly into the affairs of the Danubian basin.

Government in Egypt

News, other than military, from Egypt has been scarce during the last few weeks, and it is impossible to tell what was the origin or nature of the Cabinet crisis which has just resulted in a change of Government. Nevertheless, a crisis there has been, and it came to a head some days ago, when Ali Maher Pasha, the Prime Minister, tendered his resignation to King Farouk. We may hazard the guess that dissension arose between the King and either all or a majority of his Ministers; for the young King, following the example of his father, Fuad, is no "rubber-stamp" monarch, but plays an important part in Egyptian politics. At all events, the old Cabinet is gone, and a new Cabinet, under the leadership of Hassan Pasha Sabry, takes its place. It is a coalition Government, but not so fully representative as might have been desired in time of war or impending war. There are six Independents, four Saadists—members of the Nationalist Party which broke away from the parent Wafd before the last general election—four Liberals, and two others. The missing element is the Wafdist Party itself. Its refusal to co-operate with a coalition Cabinet is surprising, because at the moment there is only one political issue in Egypt, and the Wafdists' attitude towards it is precisely the same as that of all other parties. The one issue is whether Egypt will, or will not, fulfil her obligations under the Treaty of 1935 with Great Britain. Under that treaty—which was concluded, incidentally, by a Wafdist Government—Egypt is bound to afford certain military facilities to the British in the event of war; and, in return, England undertakes the duty of Egypt's protection. It is by no means a one-sided bargain. Without the use of bases on Egyptian territory Britain would be in a very much worse position to defend the Canal Zone and the Eastern Mediterranean against Signor Mussolini's assaults, while, without her British garrisons, Egypt herself would fall into the Duce's lap like a ripe plum. It would be idle to deny that the arrangement has inspired some discontent among Egyptians. There is a violently Nationalist element—particularly among the students—which deems Great Britain the traditional and only enemy, and professes to believe that Signor Mussolini would respect the country's defenceless state if the British were cleared out lock, stock and barrel. That element, however, is small. The mass of the people wish the treaty arrangement to continue, and no Government that should think otherwise would have a hope of a popular following. Even the Wafdists, a bare three months ago, offered the hand of friendship to the democratic Allies, and asked, in return, merely the assurance that Egypt's independence would be respected at the end of the war. In these circumstances it is strange that they have refused to enter the Cabinet of Hassan Pasha Sabry, which, like its predecessor, is prepared to uphold the Anglo-Egyptian Treaty. The moral effect of an all-party Government is profound. Whether or not Egypt contrives to maintain her neutrality, critical days lie ahead of her, and, as we in Ireland are aware, a united nation is the best of all defences.

Neglected Streams

If the Tolka River has not become swollen with pride and has not burst its banks on its way through the city, the only explanation is that it has not heard about the tribute paid to it by Dr. Henry Stokes at yesterday's meeting of the Dublin Rotary Club. The doctor, who is an authority on the subject, stated that, if the Tolka was in England, its brown trout fishing rights would be worth about £100 per mile, and, in addition, the renter would be expected to spend possibly £50 per mile on preservation. It is to be hoped that all those citizens who hitherto have been inclined to treat this noble stream with good-humoured contempt will accord it in future the respect that clearly is due to such a potential source of wealth. At this time of the year, when the Tolka has dwindled to unobtrusive brook-like dimensions, the elders of the village, who are wont to assemble in the fine evenings on the bridges from Finglas to Newcomen, are too prone, we fear, to regard it merely as a convenient cuspidor. It is a regrettable fact that some of the inhabitants of dwellings on its banks have looked upon it for years as the ideal dustbin provided by Nature. One needed but little imagination to hear the attentuated stream as it trickled onwards, powerless to resent these indignities, murmuring: "You wait until I get me strength back and I'll learn you!" The annual winter floods which inundate houses in the Drumcondra area probably are part of the Tolka's revenge. Since the coming of Drumcondra Park and the diversion of its waters into an open-air swimming pond the stream has assumed more importance in that district, but it is doubtful if it yet receives the esteem which it merits. It is doubtful, too, if Dr. Stokes's convincing address on the value of our brown trout fisheries will lead to any action that would tap successfully this dormant source of revenue. Nevertheless, we find it difficult to understand how it is that, out of our hundreds of brown trout rivers and streams and our thousands of lakes, only two small stretches are conserved—and their rents, according to Dr. Stokes, would not be much more than £15. Schubert wrote a composition eloquently portraying the life and death of a trout, but his musical tears never caused him to refuse trout when it was offered at table, any more than the sympathy which many Dubliners express for the live-stock which they see driven through the streets on Thursdays ever has converted any of the sympathisers into vegetarians. It is not sympathy with the brown trout—described by the Rotary Club speaker as almost the most sporting fish in the country—that has prevented its pursuit from being developed into a very profitable sport. The Department of Fisheries has no money to spare for a big hatchery, the riparian owners are not interested, nobody has any initiative, and the brown trout population is dwindling rapidly—possibly from pique.

FROM "THE TIMES"

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT.)

AGAINST INVASION

The Times remarks editorially to-day:—

When German broadcasters address, with particular insistence, any message to the British public the usual inference is that they intend to deceive it. It would, however, be unwise to assume that, just because a spate of warnings of an impending invasion on a scale such as the world has never seen has been set in motion, invasion is not, therefore, likely to be immediate. The German point of view might, on the contrary, be that preparations could not, in any case, be completely hidden, so that no harm could result from admitting them. While the weaker spirits over here might be scared by portentously-worded hints about their magnitude and ferocious intent, it matters little either way. We have to prepare to face the peril of attack, and we are doing so as fast as we can. . . .

It is, doubtless, the fact that every nation at war must plan in terms of the distant, as well as of the immediate future, but a correct appreciation of the time factor in strategy sometimes permits great risks to be taken in long-term policy for the sake of an immediate victory. If Germany be, in fact, intent upon ending the war by means of a crushing victory of Great Britain, she will not depend upon supplies from the Balkans for this operation, and she may deem herself to be in a position to disregard events there for the moment, confident that she could afterwards speedily put right any ill-effects suffered as a result of the action of Russia.

We, too, have to plan in terms of distant as well as of immediate action, and if in our case the long-term view affords the rosier prospect, the short-term is by far the more important. Our first concern is to resist and defeat a possible invasion of Great Britain. All else must, for the moment, be subordinated to the needs of defence, which, like all military operations, can be grouped under the heads of strategy and tactics. In this case, strategy comprehends more than it commonly connotes, even in total war. In the event of invasion our ground forces would have to fight and manœuvre among, and our Air forces would have to fight and manœuvre above, a crowded civilian population, which would have to subsist and to carry out its vital work even in a countryside become a battlefield. Such a situation calls for the most judicious centralisation of authority, military, naval, air and civil, the plaiting together of all the wires as they reach the top, which, in time of emergency, would inevitably be autocratic.

ABBEY THEATRE

"THE JAILBIRD"

George Shiels's three-act comedy, "The Jailbird," has that common attribute of all real works of art that it never loses its appeal, and one assuredly can count on its playing once again to good audiences at the Abbey Theatre, Dublin, this week. It is extraordinary how fresh and vital it keeps, with its illuminating character studies, and its sparkling dialogue. No matter how often one sees it there seems always to be something new to catch the attention.

The Jailbird, Dan Farn, is one of F. J. McCormick's best rôles. He and Eileen Crowe, as the dressmaker-widow, play to each other in the happiest manner imaginable. Then there is Michael J. Dolan, as the ambitious farmer, who at heart is a good sort, but is rather under the thumb of his shrewish, gossiping wife (played admirably by May Craig). It was interesting to see Ria Mooney, as the saying goes, throwing her weight about as the "uppish daughter," Martha. Another good part was that of Brid Ni Loingsigh, as the tattling apprentice, Lily. Others in an excellent cast were Denis O'Dea (Charlie), Cecil Ford (Mr. Bunton, Solicitor), Austin Meldon (as the returned American), W. O'Gorman (as the Police Sergeant), and Gertrude Quinn, in the small but very amusing part of the Scout Mistress.

The Abbey orchestra, under Mr. Fred May, contributed a most enjoyable musical programme during the intervals.

25 YEARS AGO

From the Irish Times, July 2, 1915.

The Russian Retreat.

The Russians are still retreating in Southern Galicia, but are methodically destroying all bridges and putting up a magnificent resistance against the vastly superior strength of the enemy at these points. The German communiqués now refer to the Russian forces as "the defeated army." They claim to have taken large army." They claim to have taken large numbers of prisoners, the largest figure given being 6,470 on the 29th of June. They also claim have captured great quantities of machinery and guns.

The Work of Peace.

An application was made yesterday to the Master of the Rolls in Dublin by the Leper Mission Trust Association for permission to amend its objects so as to embrace the developments of recent years. The mission was started in 1874 by the late Miss Charlotte Pim to help lepers in India, and in the first year of its existence £500 was subscribed. Since then the mission has undergone great development, the work having extended to China, Japan, Korea and other lands. Last year subscriptions amounted to £42,462. The total sum spent by the mission since 1874 amounts to £482,913. The Master of the Rolls made the order requested.

UNIVERSITY OF DUBLIN

LONDON LETTER

ITALIAN COURTESY TO BRITONS

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
MONDAY NIGHT.

SIR PERCY LORAINE, late British Ambassador in Rome, together with three hundred other British subjects, arrived in London to-day, and many members of the party had interesting stories to tell. Numbers of them had lived in Italy for years, and had brought with them Italian wives who never had been in this country before. Accounts of the courtesy with which British people were treated were given on all sides, and it was stated that in Italy there was no hostility to Britons. The crew of the liner, the Conte Rosse, which carried the British subjects to Lisbon, could not have been kinder; the journey was described as being more like a pleasure trip than anything else. It is stated that Italy is not too well supplied with food. Wheat is not doing well, oranges already are four times their usual price, sugar and coffee are rationed, and soap is a luxury. A member of the party remarked that shortly the food problem will become acute.

A Mammoth Ox

The biggest ox on record—the famous Fellness Island—has been slaughtered, and its carcase, delivered to a Southend butcher to-day, weighed 1,647lb., the average dressed weight of a bullock being between 500 and 600lb. The ox was regarded as something of a freak when exhibited at many of the agricultural shows in the country, where it always attracted much attention. It was sold for £70, but the owners had been offered £300 for it shortly before the beginning of the war.

New Air Raid Helmet

A new helmet has been produced to protect the brain and the ear drums against bursting bombs and shells during an air raid. The helmet is the design of a specialist in nervous diseases, who for many years has been doing research work on shell concussion. It covers the front and base of the skull, the ears and the temples, with millions of air cells contained in a layer of soft aerated rubber. The cells being connected, the effect of a blast is distributed equally through all. The rubber of each cell soaks up its share of the blast, and so keeps it from the specially sensitive areas of the brain. The helmet is made for children, as well as for men and women.

Irish Eggs in London

In many districts of London where Irish eggs hitherto have not been seen they are now on sale, and are meeting with a ready demand. More than twenty countries formerly sent eggs to the London market, but, now that no consignments are being received from several countries and supplies from others are affected by the shipping difficulty, the only eggs on sale are English and Irish. Those marked with a ring, bearing the words Eire, on sale at two shillings a dozen, have established themselves in public favour, and retailers report that their popularity continues to increase. Later in the year supplies will be available from South Africa, Australia and South America, but it remains to be seen whether shipping will be available for their transport to this country.

The Briar Pipe

Briar pipes are expected to become both scarce and expensive when the stocks of briar held in this country are exhausted. The briar root is grown in France, Algeria and Corsica, and the pipe bowls in use come mainly from St. Cloud, near Paris. The manufacture of briar pipes in this country is a comparatively modern industry, which has not been developed to any great extent, and, while there are good stocks of briar in the country, it is difficult to see what will happen when they are used up. Cherry wood, perhaps, will take the place of the briar.

IRISHMAN'S DIARY

Sir Raymond Unwin

It is difficult—writes a correspondent—to realise that 27 years have passed over our heads since Sir Raymond Unwin, in association with the late Sir Patrick Geddes, sat in the witnesses' chair at a notable housing inquiry in Dublin City Hall.

To-day it seems to be almost incredible that two town planning experts whose authority has left its marks in capital cities all over the world—London, New York, Jerusalem and New Delhi, to mention some of the most notable—were ridiculed as "long-haired professors" by our apostles of tenement-flat development.

Yet their mark, deep and lasting, was left on Dublin. To their idealism and far-seeing plans we owe garden settlements, then scoffed at as impossible, at Marino, Cabra, Glasnevin and Crumlin.

When we walked over the fields that seemed to be so remote from the brick-and-mortar city—Geddes talking planning philosophy and pleading for the preservation of every tree, Unwin ordnance map and pencil in hand—little did we expect to see building sites to extend far beyond the "wild cat" areas that were then scheduled for the inquiry.

Yet time has marched on along the routes marked by those "idealist" professors.

A Great Social Reformer

My correspondent proceeds:—

Years later it was my privilege to meet Unwin in quite different surroundings.

It was at a conference of persons concerned about another aspect of planning problems. Opposite me at the table sat Raymond Unwin and H. G. Wells, deep in thought and conversation on plans for abiding world peace, under the ægis of a League of Nations.

Woodrow Wilson had embarked on his fateful trip to Europe. Unwin—most patient and skilful of negotiators—was among the optimists, but with his feet firmly planted on the earth. Wells, by contrast, sceptical of any plan that accepted conventional thought.

Yet these two opposites fought hand-in-hand for some working compromise between imperialism and a new international order. Did they fight in vain? Or did they help to scatter seeds of which the fruit may yet be gathered?

Unwin is an irreparable loss to architectural art and progress; but, above all else, he was a student of sociology—a social reformer of wide and penetrating vision!

Week-end in Co. Wicklow

I spent the week-end in County Wicklow—to be precise, at Hunter's Hotel, which for years I have regarded as the most attracive port of call in this part of the world. I used to go to Hunter's in the days before every Tom, Dick and Harry—and all the Maudies, the Flossies and the Carries—had their motor cars; and, although certain concessions have been made to the modern craze for "up-to-dateness," the old place still has that atmosphere which always has been its greatest charm.

The old summer house at the bottom of the garden still has its marble-topped table, on which are carved the initials of generations of harmless exhibitionists. It attracts me mainly because I recall summer evenings spent there, drinking some of the late Robert Hunter's admirable port, with the late Cruise O'Brien and W. E. G. Lloyd; and that reminds me that I got a real shock when I learnt that my old friend, Charles Hunter, Robert's brother, had died only a few weeks ago.

The Strawberry Crop

Both the Hunters were fine sportsmen, in every sense of the word. They were both keen shots and enthusiastic fishermen; actually, Charles was looking forward to a spell on Lough Arrow when he fell ill for the last time. I always felt at home when greeted by his broad smile; some of the character went out of South-East Wicklow when he died.

But you cannot remain in melancholy mood for long in Hunter's. The garden alone puts you into good humour, and the whole countryside round about is looking so lovely at the moment that one forgets even the war. There were quite a few visitors there on Sunday; and I was the only one who bothered to listen to the wireless news!

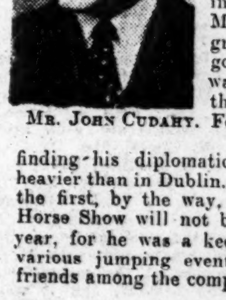

I did not even hear a single rumour in that part of County Wicklow. The only gloomy people I met were those who were bewailing the failure of the strawberry—indeed of the entire fruit—crop, a calamity which they attributed to the heavy frosts at the beginning of the year.

I was sorry, by the way, to see that Hunter's now have electric light. Somehow, I always had a great gradh for the old oil lamps; but I am afraid that I am getting old.

Mr. John Cudahy

More news is coming through now about my old friend, Mr. John Cudahy, who left the United States Legation here early this year to become Ambassador to Belgium. He has just returned to the Embassy in Brussels from a visit to Berlin.

After the invasion of Belgium no word was received from Mr. Cudahy by the United States State Department in Washington for over a week. Then, on May 24th, a telegram was received announcing that all the American and other diplomatic and Consular officials in Brussels were safe. Mr. Cudahy's telegram announcing the good news was forwarded to Washington through the German Foreign Office.

MR. JOHN CUDAHY.

No doubt he is finding his diplomatic work very much heavier than in Dublin. He will be among the first, by the way, to regret that the Horse Show will not be taking place this year, for he was a keen spectator at the various jumping events, and had many friends among the competitors.

Early Perseids

In July there are radiants active in Cygnus and Aquarius, and near the end of the month early Perseids may be expected to put in an appearance.

A large maximum falls to-morrow at 11.40 p.m., and a secondary on the night of the 4th at 10.35. A somewhat large maximum on the 7th at 1.15 p.m. is followed by a larger one on the 8th at 1.45 a.m., and the 9th has also maxima at 9.45 a.m. and 10.20 p.m.

On the 12th there is a morning maximum in the hour after midnight, and an evening one at 11.30. A large maximum on the 16th at 4.30 p.m. is succeeded by one on the 17th at 10.30 p.m. The 19th has a maximum at 7 p.m., with a secondary at 11.15 p.m. The 21st gives a maximum at 1.30 a.m. and another at 7.45 p.m. Other noteworthy maxima occur on the 25th at 4.15 p.m. and 11 p.m. There is a good deal of meteoric activity during the concluding days of the month. On the 26th there are good maxima at 9.45 p.m. and 10.30 p.m.

A very fine maximum falls on the 27th at 7.30 p.m. The 29th has also a maximum at 9.35 p.m. On the 30th there is an important maximum about 9.45 p.m., while the 31st gives two fairly large ones at 6 p.m. and 11.40 p.m.

The first of these, though invisible here, may be followed by meteorological disturbance.

RUMANIA RENOUNCES BRITISH AID PACT

DAYLIGHT AIR RAIDS ON BRITAIN

Eleven Killed in North-East Scottish Town

TWENTY PERSONS INJURED

Two of the Raiders Shot Down

ELEVEN people were reported killed and twenty injured when bombs, dropped by a German raider, demolished a row of houses in a town in North-East Scotland last night.

Once again most of the victims were women and children.

The 'plane was one of a number which crossed the British coast in daylight at several points, including North-East England, where fighters tackled a raider, and bombs were heard to fall.

The bombs which wrecked the houses and killed their occupants were seen falling from the 'plane. They struck the road and the explosions wrecked the houses.

Earlier in the day other raiders appeared over various coastal areas, but did little damage.

A British Air Ministry communiqué issued at 8.20 last night stated:—

> "Enemy bombers crossed the coast at several points this evening. Anti-aircraft defences were in action and fighters were sent up. A number of incendiary bombs was dropped on the north-east coast.
>
> "Two enemy aircraft were shot down by our fighters."

DAYLIGHT BOMBING

These were the first daylight bombing raids on land objectives in Britain involving loss of life in the present war. A raider which crossed the North-East Coast of England last night was the second seen there yesterday. Anti-aircraft guns and fighter aircraft engaged the German 'plane, which flew at a great height and dropped bombs.

Nine people are reported to have been killed and twenty injured when a German bomber appeared over a town in North-East Scotland, and spectators in the streets saw two bombs falling from the 'plane. They landed in the roadway and scattered a row of houses.

IN FROM THE SEA

People in North-East England yesterday afternoon saw a low-flying German aeroplane coming in from the sea. Then British fighters appeared, and the raider made a hurried departure. Bursts of machine-gun fire could be heard as pursuers and pursued disappeared seawards.

Later a German 'plane was heard travelling inland, and shortly afterwards came the crash of bombs from the North-West. Anti-aircraft guns were in action, and black puffs of smoke ringed the raider as it sped seaward. People paused to watch as fighters flashed after the fugitive.

A resident in the district who saw the raider said that it circled and when it descended to a lower altitude there was an explosion as it released its bombs. The raider made off at top speed in a southerly direction.

Anti-aircraft guns opened fire and put up a barrage of shells in an attempt to bring the raider down. The 'plane was clearly visible as it streaked across the sky with the guns thundering away at it until it got out of range.

A BIG BLAZE

Anti-aircraft guns were in action in North-West England, but no 'plane was seen or heard. As the first shells were fired some people sought shelters. Others watched the white puffs of the bursting shells.

Firemen engaged in extinguishing a blaze caused by an earlier raid in the North-East of England were still there at midnight. By that time, however, the flames were almost extinguished.

SHOPS DESTROYED

DEATH ROLL INCREASED

A telegram early to-day stated that in the raid on the North-East of Scotland two bombs damaged three shops in the same row as the houses. In a tailor's shop one man and two women were killed and another man injured.

Of a number of children playing in the street, four were killed and one injured.

Above the tailor's shop a tailor had a miraculous escape when the building fell about him and he emerged from the débris.

In a grocer's shop it is believed the owner was killed. His wife and customers in the shop were injured.

When a confectioner's shop was damaged the owner was slightly injured.

The number of dead is now reported to be eleven.

FLEW WESTWARDS

'Planes thought to be hostile were heard in South-West England this morning and then apparently flew back again. They seemed to make off to the West. There was intense searchlight activity, and A.A. gunfire was heard.

German raiders appeared over Wales last evening. Searchlights soon picked out a lone raider, which was driven back from the coast by aircraft, but the aeroplane later circled and made off westwards.

Some bombs dropped on the coastline, but the extent of the damage is not yet known.

RAIDER DOWN IN THE SEA

CREW OF FOUR CAPTURED

Early in the day aircraft of the Fighter Command intercepted a German seaplane off the north-east England coast and shot it down into the sea.

This was announced by the Air Ministry at noon yesterday. Its crew of four were picked up, one injured, and brought to shore.

The bombs were seen first to land on a cliff. It then took off and flew low in the direction of the sea.

It was severely damaged smoke coming from its tail. It skimmed the surface of the water and burst into flames, and was last seen skimming the water in an easterly direction.

The German airmen rescued were sighted floating in a rubber dinghy. They had been adrift about four-and-a-half hours. One, who spoke a little English, asked for a cigarette. The pilot, a heavily-built man, still wearing his flying outfit, smiled broadly at a section of the crowd as he left.

DESTRUCTION IN GERMANY

R.A.F. ATTACKS ON MANY AREAS

The British Air Ministry communiqué last night states:—

"Last night, in spite of poor visibility, our bombers continued their attacks on military objectives in Germany. Oil storage tanks at Hamburg were hit and set burning.

"In the Darmstadt area several targets were attacked, causing fires and explosions. The marshalling yards, the Osnabruck and Hann were again bombed, and large fires resulted.

"At a railway junction at Dulmen, east of Wesel, an explosion followed the release of a salvo of bombs.

"The aerodrome on the island of Norderney and those at Huntlosen (west of Bremen) and Dortmund were again bombed.

"All our aircraft returned safely."

HAMBURG AND BREMEN SUFFER

The Air Ministry news service, describing the raid later, stated:—Further attacks on oil storage tanks, marshalling yards and aerodromes in North-west Germany were carried out by R.A.F. bombers on Sunday night.

Oil refineries at Hamburg were subjected to heavy bombing with high explosives and incendiaries, and fire broke out in many parts of the target area.

Other raiders attacked an oil refinery and an aircraft factory at Bremen. Heavy bombs fell across the refinery, and hits were also scored on a quay bordering the River Weser.

BIG DUMP BLOWN UP

Ten miles to the north-west of Haltern, between Duisberg and Munster, one of the raiders arrived in time to see the last stages in the destruction of what is believed to have been an ammunition dump accomplished by an earlier attack.

As he released his own bombs the pilot could see a series of explosions going in two long lines set at right angles to one another, and covering altogether an area of 20,000 square yards.

A railway despatching yard at Hamm, already damaged in many raids during the past fortnight, was again attacked and part of it set on fire, and a canal just north of the town was also hit by high explosives.

AERODROMES FIRED

The important yards at Osnabruck and the railway junction at Dulmen, east of Wesel, were attacked from a high level earlier to-day, and at the latter place a concrete building struck by two heavy bombs exploded violently with bluish-green flashes.

Further raids were also made on German aerodromes, including Norderney, where a direct hit was scored on the east end of the airfield and on buildings near the harbour.

Four heavy bombs fell on the centre of the aerodrome at Huntlosen, west of Bremen, while at Dortmund aerodrome, where German aircraft were in the air when the raiders arrived, bombs were seen bursting across the targent, and three large fires were started in buildings at one corner of the aerodrome.

OPERATIONS INSIDE LIBYA

CAIRO, Monday.

A communiqué issued by G.H.Q. here says:—

"West Desert operations by forward troops in contact are contiuuing in the area of Sidi Azeis and Capruzzo.

"On the Eritrea and Italo-East Africa borders nothing new to report."

Fort Capruzzo, together with Fort Maddalena, were captured by the British a fortnight ago after a combined land and air operation. Sidi Azeiz, in the coastal region south of Bardia, is inside the most highly fortified zone in Italian Libya.—(P.A. War Special.)

CASUALTIES IN MALTA

MALTA, Monday.

Further details of the two air raids on Malta yesterday morning are now available.

No bombs were dropped in the first raid, which occurred at about 9 a.m., and the raiders withdrew without attacking.

The second raid, about an hour later, was made by two formations of bombers. A number of bombs was dropped in four different areas, causing some civilian casualties.

No important damage, however, is reported.—(Reuter.)

NO LANDING ON BRITISH COAST

The British Ministry of Information announces:—

"It is officially stated that the reports that German troops have landed on the British coast and by parachute in the West Midlands are untrue."

GERMANS OCCUPY CHANNEL ISLANDS

Air Force's "Surprise Coup de Main"

BRITISH OFFICIAL STATEMENT

GERMAN forces have landed in Jersey and Guernsey, the Channel Islands, the evacuation of which was announced by the British on Friday last.

The following official statement was issued last night by the British Ministry of Information:—

"As has already been announced, the Channel Islands have been demilitarised. It is now learned that enemy landings have since been made in Jersey and Guernsey.

"Telegraphic and telephonic communications have been cut, and no further information is at present available."

GERMAN REPORT

TWO BRITISH FIGHTERS SHOT DOWN

PRESS ASSOCIATION WAR SPECIAL.

BERLIN, Monday.

The official German News Agency claims that the Island of Jersey (Channel Islands) was occupied to-day, and that the Island of Guernsey was partly occupied yesterday.

The partial occupation of Guernsey was, it says, "the result of a coup de main carried out by the German Air Force."

The occupation of Jersey was effected "in an equally surprising manner."

The Agency further claims that two British fighters of the Bristol Blenheim type were shot down in the action against Guernsey.

ISLANDS DEMILITARISED

The news, quoted by Reuter that the Germans have occupied Jersey and part of Guernsey, follows the announcement by the British Home Office on Friday last of the demilitarisation of the Channel Islands.

This step, it was then stated, had been taken in view of the German occupation of parts of France nearest to the islands. Within a few hours of that announcement Guernsey and Jersey were raided by German 'planes and a number of civilians were killed and injured.

Thousands of the population have been withdrawn from the Islands to England, but it is understood that many remain.

Both the Islands of Jersey and Guernsey have fighting traditions.

Next January will see the 160th anniversary of the Battle of Jersey, which took place on January 6, 1781. That was the last attempt of the French to capture the Channel Islands. It was bravely and successfully resisted by the Royal Jersey Militia (the oldest regiment of the British Army) commanded by Major Francis Peirson.

Although the Royal Jersey Militia is the oldest regiment of the British Army, the Guernsey Militia is believed to have had its origin in the year 1335.

In the reign of King John the Islands were attached to the English Crown.

NEW SOVIET LOAN OF £400,000,000

"TO ENHANCE ECONOMIC AND MILITARY POWER"

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

MOSCOW, Monday.

An eight milliard roubles Government loan "for financing economic and cultural construction under the third Five Years' Plan, and for strengthening the defences of the Soviet Union" was launched in Moscow to-day.

The loan will be for twenty years and will carry 4 per cent. interest.

Commending the loan on the Moscow radio, M. Zverev, Commissar for Finance, said: "The growing danger of war makes it our duty to increase still further the defensive power of our country. For this purpose we must produce more metals, coal, oil, machinery and other goods.

"The funds raised by the new loan will be used for enhancing our economic and military power. They will help us to march on to new historic victories for the cause of Lenin and Stalin."

Eight milliard roubles is nominally about £400,000,000.

BRITISH FREIGHTER TORPEDOED

TWO CARGO STEAMERS ATTACKED

PRESS ASSOCIATION WAR SPECIAL.

NEW YORK, Monday.

The American steamer, Excalibur, has reported that the British freighter, Empire Toucan, has been torpedoed.

Earlier the Excalibur had radioed that two other British cargo steamers, the Guido, 3,921 tons, and the Zarian, 4,871 tons, had been attacked by German submarines in the Atlantic. The Zarian asked for tugs.

AMERICA ORDERS 45 WARSHIPS

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON, Monday.

The United States Navy has placed orders for 45 warships, costing 500,000,000 dollars. Eleven cruisers, twenty destroyers, thirteen submarines and one seaplane tender are to be built.

BRITAIN WILL DEFEND SYRIA

HOSTILE POWERS WARNED

HONOURING PLEDGES ALREADY GIVEN

BRITAIN will not allow any hostile Power to occupy Syria or the Lebanon, in view of the threat to countries of the Middle East which she is pledged to defend.

Nor will she permit in those territories disorders which might constitute a danger to those countries. The British Government's decision, and the reasons for it, were explained in an authoritative statement issued in London last night.

THE DECLARATION

The authoritative statement is as follows:—

"His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom understand that General Mittelhauser, the Commander-in-Chief of the French Forces in the Levant, has stated that hostilities have ceased in Syria.

"His Majesty's Government assume that this does not mean that if Germany or Italy sought to occupy Syria or the Lebanon, and were to try to do so in the face of British command of the sea, no attempt would be made by the French forces to oppose them.

SETTING DOUBTS AT REST

"In order, however, to set at rest doubts which may be felt in any quarter, His Majesty's Government declare that they could not allow Syria or the Lebanon to be occupied by any hostile Power, or to be used as a base for attacks upon those countries in the Middle East which they are pledged to defend or to become the scene of such disorder as to constitute a danger to those countries.

"They, therefore, hold themselves free to take whatever measures they may in such circumstances consider necessary in their own interests. Any action which they may hereafter be obliged to take in the fulfilment of this declaration will be entirely without prejudice to the future status of the territories now under French mandate."

6 A.M. EDITION

MIDNIGHT RAIDERS OVER BRITAIN

BOMBS ON BRISTOL CHANNEL AREA

A British Air Ministry and Ministry of Home Security communiqué early to-day stated: "A series of German aircraft crossed the south-west coast shortly before midnight last night.

"Bombs have been dropped in the Bristol Channel area.

"Anti-aircraft defences are in action."

Three bombs were dropped in a field in South-West England (Bristol Channel area).

They did little damage and caused no casualties.

A few windows in buildings near-by were shattered.

FIGHT FIVE MILES UP

HOW SPITFIRES SHOT DOWN BOMBERS

The British Air Ministry News Service early this morning described how the two German bombers were shot down into the sea by Spitfire and Hurricane pilots of the Royal Air Force Fighter Command yesterday.

Soon after tea three Spitfire pilots were returning from patrolling the North-East Coast, when they sighted a Heinkel 111 bomber flying at a height of more than two miles.

The Spitfires immediately dived and attacked, but the German bomber escaped into cloud.

Anti-aircraft gunfire a few minutes later, however, gave away the bomber's position. Waiting until the firing had ceased, the Spitfire pilots each attacked in turn.

Closing in to short range the first pilot saw his machine-gun bullets enter the bomber's fuselage and the port engine catch fire. The second fighter pilot also saw his bullets hit, and noticed that there was no return fire from the German aircraft. Then the third Spitfire pilot opened fire with his eight machine-guns, and saw pieces of the bomber's fuselage drop off and the second engine catch fire.

This fighter pilot believes that he hit the enemy's oil tank. As he came out of his dive his Spitfire was covered with oil, and it was so thick on the windscreen that when he landed he had to open the side window. When last he saw the Heinkel it was diving towards the sea enveloped in black smoke.

The second German bomber to be shot down "blew up" after a running fight which began at a height of more than five miles and ended almost at sea level.

After being attacked in turn by formations of Hurricanes and Spitfires, the German bomber crashed into the sea.

GERMAN 'PLANES REPORTED IN RUMANIA

BUCHAREST, Tuesday.

Unconfirmed reports that a number of German bombing 'planes had arrived last night at the Brasov military airport, in Central Rumania, strengthened the belief in some diplomatic quarters here that the Reich was backing Rumania in a stand to prevent the Russians advancing further into the country. At the same time, it reinforced the belief in these quarters that Germany feels assured of success in her attempt to bring about a peaceful settlement of Hungarian and Bulgarian territorial claims.

Military observers in Bucharest said that they were 'planes purchased by Rumania, but delivery at this time was regarded in some quarters here as being highly significan.—(Associated Press.)

IRISH FACTOR IN DEFENCE

Case of French Fleet and Jibuti

MR. HORE-BELISHA'S FIVE POINTS

MR. L. HORE-BELISHA, M.P., last night put forward these five points as the basis of a win-the-war policy:—

More men should be called up;

Citizens should be trained in their spare time in the use of arms;

We should aim at a "united defence policy in Ireland";

We must keep the French fleet out of the enemy's grasp and prevent him from occupying French territory as a base against Britain; and

Parliament should be kept "virile and vocal."

NOT APPROPRIATE TO TIMES

Speaking at Devonport, Mr. Hore-Belisha said that at a moment of danger, such as this, more and more classes should be called up. They can be learning discipline and the military art, even though they cannot be furnished at once with full equipment. The peace-time fashion of waiting for barracks, uniforms and arms all to be in complete readiness in advance, is not appropriate to these times. Training centres should be established in as many districts as possible, so that citizens in their spare time can receive instruction, and can become accustomed to the use of machine-guns, rifles and grenades.

IMPORTANCE OF IRELAND

Diplomacy, no less than arms, is an instrument of war. There is one important field where there is urgent need for imagination and inspiring action.

The question may be—who is to get the ports of Ireland first? Is it to be Hitler? This can be prevented only by a united policy in Ireland. Surely, in the circumstances, a united policy in Ireland is not beyond the wit of the Government to achieve. If Germany could obtain the Shetlands, the Faroes, or Iceland, our Northern Atlantic routes would be jeopardised. Her occupation of Ireland would cover our only remaining flank, and make the arrival of those supplies from America, on which we are counting, most hazardous. A diplomatic success in Ireland would have a profound effect in the United States.

Mr. Hore-Belisha said that a realistic diplomacy might have seized the opportune moment, when French opinion was profoundly shocked by Marshal Pétain's capitulation.

THE FRENCH FLEET

"The passage of time has strengthened Marshal Pétain's hold not only on metropolitan France, but on the French Empire," he added. "We must recognise that the French Government which has broken its bond with Britain is not friendly to us, and we must not allow our chances of victory, which have been rendered more difficult, to be hampered still further by the passing of the French Fleet into its hands. There is not only the question of keeping the French Fleet out of the grasp of the enemy; it is also essential to prevent him from occupying French territory as a base against Britain.

"Jibuti is on the lines of communication of our Middle East reserve, and it should be denied to the Italians.

ROLE OF PARLIAMENT

"It is imperative in this country that Parliament should be kept virile and vocal and should vigilantly survey the progress of the war at every stage.

"Parliament and the Press are the recognised organs of public opinion, and in a people's war they are essential elements. Almost every reform and stimulus has come at their instigation. A tremendous responsibility rests on both these institutions. The last few weeks have seen the willing surrender by trade unions of their rights. There must be no less sacrifice of the customs and habits of other entities of the nation to facilitate the general speeding up. Throughout the machinery of Government, every procedure and convention which delays action must be eliminated. We cannot conduct a war with peace-time methods of administration."

ENGLISH COMMENT ON PARTITION

ADVICE TO MR. DE VALERA AND LORD CRAIGAVON

The News Chronicle in a leading article yesterday says:—"Lord Craigavon, Premier of Northern Ireland, said on Saturday that he was prepared to co-operate with Mr. de Valera, but added that he would be no party to any change in the Northern Ireland Constitution. That is to say, Ulster will not end what is called partition, even to help to save the British Empire from destruction. If, as Lord Craigavon declares, the supreme consideration for all of us is the safety of the whole United Kingdom, then no other consideration should be allowed to exist. Let Craigavon and de Valera meet together at once in person, forget their damnable iterations, and agree upon a united Ireland to resist the enemy at our gates. That is the commonsense of the matter. That is the way of Irish salvation now and hereafter."

U.S. AMBASSADOR TO FRANCE

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Monday.

Mr. Cordell Hull, U.S. Secretary of State, announced to-day that Mr. William Bullitt, the American Ambassador to France, would resume contact with the French Government. Mr. Bullitt was expected to arrive at the new seat of Government from Paris almost immediately.

HOW DECISION WILL AFFECT BRITAIN

German Foreign Minister Sees Balkan Envoys

HUNGARY GOES ON WAR FOOTING

Russian Occupation Ahead of Schedule

THE Rumanian Cabinet, whose recent reshuffle is thought to have precipitated Russia's move into Bessarabia and North Bukovina, has approved the renunciation of the Anglo-French guarantee of Rumania's territorial integrity, given on April 13, 1939, after Germany's move against Czecho-Slovakia.

The formation of this Cabinet was interpreted by Russia as a pro-German move, and this has been borne out by a swift swing-round in Rumania's policy, which is now expected to move completely into the German orbit.

The announcement was made following a meeting of the Cabinet yesterday, at which the Foreign Minister (M. Argetoianu) stated that Rumanian foreign policy was to be revised, in view of "the new European order in course of establishment."

Rumania's renunciation of the British guarantee would cause little surprise in diplomatic circles, it was stated in London last night. It was added that the renunciation would in no way curtail the British Government's freedom to decide for itself at any time whether or not the conditions had arisen for Britain to implement its guarantee.

Russian occupation of the ceded areas is, with the aid of parachute troops, being completed two and a half days ahead of schedule.

Herr von Ribbentrop, the German Foreign Minister, has been busy in Vienna, conferring with Germany's Balkan Envoys, but the Hungarian Foreign Office yesterday denied that he had a four-hour talk with Count Csaky, Hungarian Foreign Minister.

Reported frontier incidents between Hungarian and Rumanian troops yesterday, coupled with stories of clashes between Rumanian troops and the Soviet forces occupying the ceded territory, gave a further critical turn to the troubled Balkan situation.

Hungary went on to a complete war footing last night.

In Rumania many people have been arrested by the Government as a precaution against rioting.

According to Budapest sources, Rumanian border guards fired on Hungarian guards at Vichybad. The Hungarians were said to have returned the fire, forcing the Rumanians to retreat. Three persons were also said to have been fired on by Rumanians at Fekete-Gyarbat, south of Ant, on Hungarian territory.

Trainloads of Rumanian wounded, said to have been wounded in clashes with Soviet troops along the banks of the Pruth River, arrived in Bucharest yesterday.

BRITAIN FREE TO DECIDE

The British guarantee which was given after Germany's invasion of Czechoslovakia in March last year was a voluntary undertaking on Britain's part to go to the aid of Rumania in the event of aggression. It is therefore, writes a Press Association diplomatic correspondent, for the British Government to say whether or not that undertaking still holds good and, if so, when it considers the time has come for it to be put into effect.

The guarantee mentioned no third party, but since it was given at a time when Great Britain was negotiating with the Soviet, clearly Germany and Italy were the only potential aggressors envisaged.

A similar guarantee was given to Greece and a separate undertaking on the same lines was offered by France, which is, of course, no longer a factor in the restraint of aggression in the Balkans.

LONDON COMMENT

Authoritative circles in London commenting last night on the Rumanian renunciation of the Anglo-French offer of territorial integrity stated, according to the Associated Press:—

"If it is true it is a curious gesture, because Rumania did not ask for the guarantee. It was given by Britain unilaterally, and if Britain wished to carry out her promise she would do so despite such a renunciation."

It seemed probable, it was added, that the action of the Rumanian Cabinet was the logical outcome of the country's present leaning towards the Axis Powers. Possibly Germany had said that such a renunciation of Allied assistance would bring promise of German assistance in restraining, say Hungary, from insisting on territorial adjustments.

RUMANIA'S PLANS

The communiqué issued by the Rumanian Cabinet said:—"Rumania will henceforth follow the new orientation of Europe."

The statement aroused discussion in official quarters over the possibility of Rumania obtaining German guarantees against further Russian encroachments.—(Associated Press).

HUNGARY ON WAR FOOTING

CHANGE OF TACTICS

BUDAPEST, Monday.

Hungary went on to a complete war footing to-night following reported Rumanian-Hungarian incidents.

Hungarian officials openly admitted that no announcement regarding general mobilisation could be expected "since that term is out of date in modern tactics, and since the same end already is being achieved."—(Associated Press).

BUCHAREST UNDER ARMED GUARD

BUCHAREST, Monday.

Further clashes between Rumanian and Russian troops were reported to-night. It was stated that a Russian tank killed a Rumanian commander, one lieutenant, two non-commissioned officers and four soldiers at Herta.

Bucharest to-night is a city under the stress of obvious nervous tension. Armed guards have been redoubled in public buildings.—(Associated Press.)

RUSSIANS AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

CLASH OF WORKERS AND TROOPS

PRESS ASSOCIATION FOREIGN SPECIAL.

BUCHAREST, Monday.

Soviet troops are now completing their occupation of the Rumanian territory ceded to the U.S.S.R. At some points where they overshot the new boundary they have withdrawn their troops to within the agreed limits.

The occupation has been achieved two and a-half days ahead of schedule, the rapidity being due in some cases to the use of parachute troops.

The Bessarabian town of Bolgrad, for example, was occupied by this means ahead of the retiring Rumanian troops. In other instances mechanised columns have advanced on the German model, but this is ascribed rather to the Soviet desire to see something of the nature of the Rumanian military equipment than to any intention to seize it.

The interest in the occupation itself has now sprung away towards the marked and crucial change in Rumanian policy. It has become apparent that the equivocal nature of the foreign policy hitherto pursued by Rumania has failed. The totalitarian National Party was suddenly formed in an attempt to unite the diverging political elements. Russia immediately interpreted this as a pro-German move, and countered it with demands on Bessarabia—a move which was completely unexpected in informed quarters in Rumania.

AT AN END?

All reliable evidence available here indicates that the parallel policy which Germany and Russia have so far followed is now at an end.

Henceforth, Rumanian policy is expected to move quickly and completely into the German orbit.

The first public hint of what is brewing is given in a secret duplicated manifesto distributed in the streets of Bucharest yesterday. This manifesto declares that the Russian demands were made at the instigation of the British and the Jews, who were seeking to bring about a war between Russia and Germany.

The manifesto added that the British Propaganda Chief had given a party in Bucharest to celebrate the occupation.

"DOWN WITH ENGLAND"

The manifesto terminated with the words: "Down with the Jews—down with England."

The pro-German Curentul says: "Do not forget that England is extremely frightened by the German offensive—that she is expecting invasion, and that Rumania is the chief source of Germany's petrol supply. Her objective is clear—the destruction of the petrol zone. The first attempt has failed. We have not declared war on Russia. The second plan can only be interior troubles and civil war."

Reports of a clash between 2,000 workers and Rumanian troops at the Black Sea port of Galatz yesterday are now officially confirmed.

A communiqué issued by the Minister of the Interior to-day states:—"A crowd of 2,000 workmen, waiting at Galatz, under a military escort, to leave at their own desire for Bessarabia on the evening of June 30, attempted demonstrations because the train was late and tried to depart. When summoned to stop, they opened fire. There are several dead and injured. A number of arrests were made. Two soldiers and a policeman were killed. Order was soon re-established.

"The station was cleared to receive evacuees coming from Bessarabia.

"The evacuation continues in accordance with plans."

TROOPS CLASH IN BUKOVINA

SHOPS LOOTED IN CERNAUTI

PRESS ASSOCIATION FOREIGN SPECIAL.

BUCHAREST, Monday.

The precipitate advance of the Russian troops provoked incidents with Rumanian troops at several points, writes a Press Association correspondent, who left Bukovina by the last train that the Russians allowed to go.

Only the Germans seem to have had any warning of the imminent Russian occupation. Some months ago the German Consular authorities in Bukovina and Bessarabia ordered all German citizens to make inventories of all their goods, one copy being in German and the other in Russian. These inventories were to be kept at the German Consulates at Cernauti and Chisinau. These Consular officials and German nationals have remained in the territory now occupied by the Russians.

The inventories appear to have been made to hold the Russians to account for any appropriation of German property.

COMMUNIST FLAGS

As early as Friday morning bands of Ukranian working-class Jews appeared in the streets of Cernauti. Carrying Communist flags, they made for the central prison, where they stormed the arms dépôt, killed four wardens, and set the prisoners free. Then they went to the Town Hall, where they hoisted the Red flag. From the balcony speakers condemned Italian Fascism and German National Socialism, at the same time paying tribute to Stalin's Soviet régime.

Brandishing axes and scythes, one group of Communists, including peasants from the Cernauti region, broke into Jewish-owned drapery and shoe shops. Having shared the booty from these, they made for jewellers' shops and did the same there.

Converging on one of the main streets they found troops of the 8th Rumanian Division loading munitions. They attempted to prevent this, but were met with a burst of machine-gun fire. Several were killed.

TRAMS LOOTED

Other bands took to robbing trams and the stations and those who were trying to evacuate the town. Fleeing civil servants were fired on.

At mid-day Soviet motor cyclists appeared. Later a motorised unit arrived in the suburbs, and three Soviet Generals travelled in a tank to the Royal residence in the district. There the Resident surrendered the town to them. People's Commissars were immediately appointed.

ASSASSINATIONS

Several prominent citizens and civil servants were assassinated by roving bands.

Next day, after the reorganisation of the civil administration, Soviet troops executed nine Ukrainians and five Jews who took part in the looting.

Some 50,000 Jews in Cernauti have remained there. They say that they prefer Soviet occupation to the consequences which might await them elsewhere in Rumania for the crimes of their co-religionists.

Many members of the professional classes, university professors and members of Parliament have also stayed.

Among military incidents during the occupation was one at Herta. A Soviet tank which had advanced too far opened fire against a Rumanian detachment, killing two officers and six other ranks. The Soviet troops later retired.

RUMANIA'S DAY OF MOURNING

TROOPS POSTED TO KEEP DISCIPLINE

It was announced in Bucharest last night that to-day—the day on which Rumanian troops are to complete their evacuation of Bessarabia and North Bukowina—will be a day of mourning throughout the country, says a Press Association Foreign Special.

A communiqué concerning the occupation of the territories was issued by the Ministry of the Interior last night. It reads:—"The evacuation of the occupied territory and the lodging of refugees continues without incident. Complete order and tranquillity reigns throughout the country. The President of the Council announces that July 3rd, the day on which the Rumanian troops leave the territory of North Bukowina and Bessarabia, will be a day of mourning throughout the country."

Military patrols were posted in all Rumanian towns last night, to ensure military discipline among the civilian population.

All citizens have been ordered to carry identity papers and military cards.

RIBBENTROP TALKS WITH BALKAN MINISTERS

DENIAL OF MEETING WITH COUNT CSAKY

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

BUDAPEST, Monday.

The Hungarian Foreign Office to-day denied that Count Csaky, the Hungarian Foreign Minister, had a four-hour talk with Herr Von Ribbentrop, the German Foreign Minister, in Vienna on Saturday.

While the diplomatic situation of the past few days remains obscure, it seems certain that there have been urgent talks in Vienna between Herr Von Ribbentrop and the German Ministers in the Balkans.

Dr. Fabricius, the German Minister in Bucharest, is reported to have passed through Hungary on Friday and to have called at the Foreign Office here on his way.

For the moment the situation seems settled. The fact that Hungary is continuing a state of military and political preparedness is, it is stated, explained by the possibility that the Russians may overstep their present demand.

SOVIET - RUMANIAN CLASHES

OFFICIAL STATEMENT

BUCHAREST, Monday.

"At those points where motorised units of the Soviet forces have overtaken retiring units there have been some clashes," states an official communiqué issued by the Rumanian General Staff to-night.

These incidents, adds the communiqué, have generally been settled in a satisfactory fashion after consultation between the military commanders of the respective forces.

The Soviet line of occupation in Bessarabia and Bukovina now runs as follows:—Just north of Seletin, Ciudei, Adamcata, Bojan, Dimanti, Priceni, Calarasi and Chitai.—Reuter.

IRELAND AND THE WAR

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—The object of many recent letters to the Press has been to goad Mr. de Valera out of his neutrality. But supposing Mr. de Valera declares war to-morrow, what exactly is achieved? In the altered circumstances of to-day, does anyone want to see Irish recruits leaving a country only too thinly populated in order to crowd into Great Britain, where there are already millions of men under arms?

The intention of those who seek to goad Mr. de Valera out of his neutrality is, of course, perfectly plain. They want to make it possible for Northern Ireland to join in a scheme of national defence. But this seems like putting the cart before the horse. As far as both Ireland and Great Britain are concerned, all that matters on this side of the Irish Sea is a strong defence of Ireland, and in such circumstances the raising of issues of "loyalty" to Great Britain is entirely beside the point. Only those who understand the responsibilities which Mr. de Valera is carrying and the astounding degree of political unity he has achieved by means of a policy of neutrality can realise just how mischievous it might be if he were compelled to abandon that policy for any reason except a direct attempt by a belligerent to land on Irish soil.

The logical outcome of all this is perfectly plain. If the mountain cannot come to Mahomet, then, in the light of historical necessity, which recognises no ideals, only facts, Mahomet's plain and bounden duty is to go to the mountain. Let the whole of Ireland become neutral through the incorporation of Northern Ireland in a federal Irish State, with reserved powers to a reduced Ulster legislature, and full representation for Northern Ireland in the Dail. But before that happens, volunteers of Irish birth or parentage should be recruited among the Dominion forces now serving in Britain or training at home. These highly trained troops, including airmen and specialists of all kinds, to take an oath of allegiance to Ireland and to be transferred to Ireland, complete with aeroplanes and stores, to replace the purely British troops at present in Northern Ireland, and to serve as a nucleus for increased recruiting in the North. The whole to be placed alongside the small but efficient Irish Army under a centralised Irish command. Belfast to manufacture the additional equipment and uniforms required.

That would be Realpolitik for a change, instead of talk. And there would be many advantages. England would then have a strong fortress on her ocean flank; the moment a belligerent attempts a landing, the die is cast, and Ireland is at war; and, a most important point, the issue for Irish-American sentiment would be crystal clear. The Bank of Ireland to finance the pay and equipment of the new Irish army in the same way that the Reichsbank has financed the pay and equipment of the Germany army.

Such a plan would deal with the situation as it is. But it may be too late, and judging by the hairsplitting going on at the moment in Ireland, the Irish will, in the brilliant phrase of the Marquis of Dufferin and Ava, "Still be haggling in the guardroom when the postern gate of Christendom is forced."—Yours, etc., DENIS IRELAND

BRITISH TREASURY APPOINTMENTS

LORD CATTO, FINANCIAL ADVISER

Lord Catto, at the invitation of Sir Kingsley Wood (British Chancellor of the Exchequer), has accepted an appointment in the Treasury as financial adviser. He has resigned all his directorships.

In addition Sir Kingsley Wood has appointed a Consultative Council, consisting of the following:—

Mr. S. R. Beale, executive member of the Export Council and chairman of Guest, Keen and Nettlefolds.

Mr. Colin F. Campbell, chairman, National Provincial Bank, and chairman of the Committee of London Clearing Bankers.

Sir Walter Citrine, General Secretary, Trades Union Congress.

Mr. H. D. Henderson, Research Fellow in Economics, All Souls, Oxford, formerly Joint Secretary, Economic Advisory Council.

Sir Bertram Hornsby, formerly Governor of the National Bank of Egypt, chairman, Commercial Union Assurance Company.

Mr. J. M. Keynes, the well-known economist, Fellow and Bursar of King's College, Cambridge, and author of the much-discussed plan for financing the war.

Mr. George Riddle, chairman of the Finance Committee of the Co-operative Wholesale Society; and Lord Riverdale, chairman and managing director of Arthur Balfour, Ltd., Sheffield.

In his letter of invitation to accept membership of the Consultative Council Sir Kingsley Wood said that it was his wish to ask the Council from time to time for their help and advice upon the special problems which confront the Treasury as a consequence of war conditions.

EUROPEANS LEAVING HONG KONG

"NO IMMEDIATE DANGER"

PRESS ASSOCIATION FOREIGN SPECIAL.

HONG KONG, Monday.

A Candian-Pacific liner carrying 2,000 women and children of naval personnel left for Manila to-day. It is expected that complete compulsory evacuation of British women and children will be completed by Friday.

A Government spokesman said that among the many considerations prompting the decision to evacuate women and children was a desire to be ready for all possibilities, "including the remote possibility of hostilities. There is no immediate danger and we anticipate none," he said.

American, Dutch, Norwegian and French Consuls are also making evacuation arrangements for their nationals.

The American liner President Coolidge is waiting until midnight to-night to evacuate Americans who wish to leave.

R.H.S. MEMBERS' SHOW

The Royal Horticultural Society of Ireland will hold a private show for members on Thursday in the Mills' Hall, Merrion row, Dublin. Competition is invited in twenty six classes. The Society's silver medal will be awarded to the best competitive exhibit.

PUTTING PRESSURE ON HUNGARY

Responsible quarters in Budapest said that Germany and Italy were still negotiating to prevent Hungarian entry into Transylvania and to maintain peace, according to the Associated Press.

Some observers, however, believed that the show of Hungarian preparedness may be designed to force a settlement immediately on a peaceful basis.

Officially-inspired Hungarian news reports from Transylvania claiming that "Rumania is on the verge of collapse" seemed to point to the fact that Hungary might be preparing to justify a possible move into Transylvania to "protect" the 2,000,000 Magyar minority.

It was reported from Jassy, near the Bessarabian border, that Russian troops now command most of the bridgeheads across the River Prut, although the Rumanians have mined their side of the bridges.

RUSSIAN WARSHIPS OFF RUMANIAN PORTS

BUCHAREST, Monday.

Russian warships are stated to be off Rumanian ports, in reports received here from usually reliable sources.—(Reuter.)

ARMY DESTROYED IN A MONTH

MILLION AND A HALF FRENCH CASUALTIES

BY TAYLOR HENRY (ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT.

SAN SEBASTIAN, Monday.

The once great French Army, until two months ago still hailed as the world's most efficient military machine, has been destroyed in a month, and more than half of France has been turned over to the German army of occupation.

It was estimated unofficially that, when France decided to plead for an armistice on June 12, the French casualties in just one month were 1,500,000 men, the greater part of whom were listed as dead or missing.

The situation then was so desperate that General Weygand is reliably reported to have told the historic midnight meeting of the French Cabinet in the Château de Cande, near Tours, on June 6, that the French Army had only enough cartridges to last three more days.

Ministers who had watched the Army melt away along the Somme-Aisne line wept as the Generalissimo described the German advance as a "slaughter of men, who no longer have the means to defend themselves."

GERMANY'S ATTACK ON BRITAIN

ADMIRAL'S WARNING

PRESS ASSOCIATION WAR SPECIAL.

NEW YORK, Monday.

Preparations under way for the expected attack on Britain are being given prominence in the German Press, writes the Berlin Correspondent of the New York Times.

Boersen Zeitung declares that the Atlantic coast from Brittany to Norway is being organised into an aggressive front against Britain, and every category of arms is ready.

Admiral Leutzow, prominent writer on naval affairs, expresses the opinion that the impending clash will be fought out in the Straits of Dover between swift cruisers and all other types of lighter craft, with the air forces joining battle overhead. Leutzow warns the Reich against under-estimating Britain's powers of resistance. Germany, he says, must reckon not only on a sturdy defence, but also on powerful counter-attacks.

NEW YORK, Monday.

Commenting on Mr. Neville Chamberlain's speech yesterday reiterating Britain's determination to fight to the end, the New York Times states that there is no reason to doubt the former Premier's statement that not one member of the present War Cabinet would consent to enter into peace negotiations now.

"Meanwhile," the paper adds, "the Royal Air Force is now subjecting German factory towns to an ordeal which Germany never suffered in the last war. These attacks are being pressed home with grim persistence, and if only a fraction of the British version of the damage done is true the German war effort will be hampered increasingly."

GERMAN CLAIMS

CRUISER TORPEDOED AND AIRCRAFT SHOT DOWN

PRESS ASSOCIATION WAR SPECIAL.

BERLIN, Monday.

To-day's official German communiqué says:

"No special event to report from France.

"A U-boat has sunk 23,000 tons of enemy shipping and torpedoed a cruiser of the Orion class south of Brest.

"Two of the ships sunk were in a strong enemy convoy. Lieut.-Commander Prien destroyed further enemy merchant ships during the last few days. The number of ships sunk by him, as given in the German High Command communiqué of June 28, has now been increased to 51,086 tons.

"German warplanes during the night of June 30 again attacked several ports on the east coast of Scotland, as well as on the English east and west coast. They achieved good results. A squadron of nine British Blenheims, protected by fighters, attempted to attack Merville-Lestrim aerodrome, near Lille, during the morning of June 30. They were scattered as they approached by our anti-aircraft fire and were engaged in heavy aerial combat by our fighter 'planes. In this action we succeeded in shooting down six Blenheims and three fighter 'planes.

"Attacks by enemy 'planes on non-military objectives in north-west and south-west Germany during the night of June 30 caused only very little material damage. On June 30 altogether 18 British 'planes were shot down—11 in aerial combats and 7 by anti-aircraft fire. One German 'plane is missing."

It is stated in London that German losses during the same operations were:—Shot down in aerial combat, 5 M.E. machines for certain, plus a further seven machines (probable). At Abbeville at least four enemy machines were destroyed on the ground."

There are five cruisers of the Orion—or Leander—class. They are Leander, Orion, Neptune, Achilles and Ajax. They were completed at various times between March, 1933, and June, 1935. Their tonnage is about 7,000, and they carry eight 6-inch guns and one or two aircraft.

Ajax and Achilles are two of the cruisers which fought the pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee in the battle of the River Plate last year.

ITALIANS LOSE A DESTROYER

CLAIM AIR SUCCESSES

PRESS ASSOCIATION WAR SPECIAL.

ROME, Monday.

To-day's official Italian communiqué, as broadcast from Rome, states:—

"Marshal Rudolfo Graziani has flown to Libya and taken over command of the armed forces in Italian North Africa.

"An Italian torpedo boat has attacked an enemy submarine with depth charges, sinking it.

"An Italian submarine has shot down a British four-engined aeroplane. The Italian destroyer Espero, after having been heroically engaged with three British cruisers and some British destroyers, failed to return to its base, and must be considered lost.

"In North Africa our troops have had successful engagements with enemy motorised formations. Several enemy armoured cars and tanks were put out of action. Italian airplanes have effectively bombed groups of armoured cars, parking stations and enemy troops between Bolum, Cici Omar and Cici Carat. An enemy 'plane was shot down by our anti-aircraft guns.

"In East Africa Italian 'planes carried out an effective night bombing raid over an enemy post at Entebbe (Uganda). The air and naval bases of Aden and Port Sudan have also been effectively bombed. One Italian 'plane failed to return. The enemy have bombed the city of Harar (Abyssinia)."

The 38 knot destroyer Espero was built in 1927, and displaced 1,073 tons. She was equipped with four 4.7 inch guns, and carried a complement of 142.

MORE BOMBS ON SWITZERLAND

PRESS ASSOCIATION WAR SPECIAL.

BERNE, Monday.

Twelve bombs fell to-day in the Jura region of Switzerland, close to the French frontier. There were no casualties, and the material damage was negligible.

LORD MAYOR OF DUBLIN

MRS. T. CLARKE RE-ELECTED

FINE GAEL CANDIDATE WITHDRAWS

MRS. T. CLARKE was unanimously re-elected Lord Mayor of Dublin last night.

The election proceedings took an unusual turn, as after Mr. Sean Milroy, the Fine Gael candidate, had withdrawn from the contest on the grounds of national emergency, Mr. P. Belton, T.D., forced a division on his own candidature, declaring that no authoritative decision to withdraw had been taken by the party.

Mr. Belton's nomination was defeated by 24 votes to 7, and a suggestion that there had been an agreement between the two parties on the matter was denied.

A large public gallery derived considerable enjoyment from a speech in support of Mr. Belton by Mr. J. J. Byrne, and from mistakes made by some members in casting their votes. One member, Mr. T. Breslin, was dressed in the uniform of a sergeant of the National Army.

MR. MILROY'S STATEMENT

The re-election was proposed by Alderman T. Kelly, T.D., and seconded by Alderman C. Breathnach, T.D.

When Alderman P. S. Doyle, T.D., proposed Mr. Milroy, the Fine Gael candidate said that nothing should be done in the present national circumstances to impair the consolidation of national opinion and outlook to meet the danger impending and hourly growing more imminent. A contest for the Mayoralty at such a juncture would arouse partisan bitterness and recrimination which they all would deplore.

He had been assured, he added, of sufficient support to warrant him in believing that he would be successful in the event of a contest, but such a success would be dearly bought if it was responsible for a cleavage in the national front. In withdrawing his name, he appealed to his colleagues, in the event of any other candidate going forward, to transfer their support to Mrs. Clarke.

A NEW POSITION

Mr. Belton, who was proposed by Mr. Cahill and seconded by Mr. O'Connor, said that Mr. Milroy had created an entirely new position, and he was not aware of any such decision having been come to by the Fine Gael Party. The Fine Gael people in his area were unanimous, in order to prevent stagnation in public life, that the office should go round. No calamity was going to befall the country by having a contest for the Mayoralty, and there was no opinion in the city that would say they should not have a contest because of national danger coming from it.

It had unanimously been decided at a meeting of Fine Gael that the contest should take place, and he knew of nothing that had supervened since then to alter that.

Mr. J. Larkin moved that the motion be put, but Mr. J. J. Byrne claimed the right to support Alderman Belton, and began to deal with the question of national danger, when Mr. Milroy objected.

Mr. Belton interrupted with the remark that Mr. Milroy knew that he would be beaten and had "funked the fight."

"BETRAYED" BY PARTY

Mr. Belton said that last year he had been beaten because his party had betrayed him; this year he would be beaten by his party betraying their own organisation.

Dr. Hannigan, T.D., suggested that there had been an agreement between the parties, and said that however excellent that might have been the other parties in the Chamber should have been made aware of it.

Mr. O'Sullivan said that the Labour Party always had felt that the office should go round, but in the present circumstances they would support the re-election.

Mr. E. Cooney, T.D., appealed to Alderman Belton to withdraw, and protested against being interrupted.

Declining to withdraw, Mr. Belton asked why, if an election was injurious to the national interest, the Government had fought a by-election in Galway. He was going to register the fact that there were at least a few members who would not hoodwink the public.

THE VOTING

When Mr. Larkin again moved that the question be put, Mr. Belton referred to the arch-democrat of Dublin moving a closure.

The voting on Mr. Belton's candidature was as follows:—

For Mr. Belton—Messrs. P. J. Cahill, J. Kiernan, J. J. Byrne, J. Gately, Dr. J. Hannigan, T.D.; W. J. Colman and W. O'Connor—(7).

Against—Alderman T. Kelly, T.D.; Alderman C. Breathnach, T.D.; E. Cooney, T.D.; P. S. Doyle, T.D.; E. E. Benson, T.D.; Messrs. M. Byrne, R. Lynch, S. Milroy, J. McCabe, J. Larkin, M. Stafford, Mrs. O'Shea-Leamy, M. O'Sullivan, J. Cahill, Mrs. Nix, W. J. O'Hara, M. Staines, P. J. Medlar, J. Coghlan, Senator D. Healy, Burke, T. Byrne, T. Breslin and B. Butler—(24).

Alderman A. Byrne, T.D., did not vote.

The Lord Mayor, thanking the Council, said that this was a time for placing in positions people whom Ireland could trust. Her life had been proof of her trustworthiness. She paid a tribute to the members of the Fine Gael Party.

Alderman T. Kelly, T.D., denied that there had been any contract between the parties regarding the Mayoralty, and said that they appreciated the patriotism that dictated Mr Milroy's action.

BRITISH PREMIER MAY NOT SPEAK TO-DAY

EVACUATION SCHEME

Mr. Winston Churchill, British Prime Minister, has decided not to make any statement on the general war situation when the House of Commons meets to-day, says the Press Association Lobby Correspondent.

It is not yet certain when he will be able to do so. This will have to be determined by events, but while these are in a state of hourly development it is not worth while to make a statement which may quickly have to be modified. Mr. Churchill may, therefore, postpone it until to-morrow or Thursday, or even until next week.

When the statement is made it probably will be followed by a secret debate on the whole position.

To-day there will be a debate on the scheme for evacuating British children to the Dominions and the United States. Mr. Geoffrey Shakespeare, Chairman of the Committee which is working on this project, will tell what has been done. On the whole, the plan will have considerable support from Mr. Geoffrey Mander and a number of other speakers, although there are some who are apprehensive about placing children in distant homes which may not harmonise with their temperaments.

GENERAL NOGUES VISITS RABAT

PRESS ASSOCIATION WAR SPECIAL.

CLERMONT FERRAND, Monday.

General Nogues, the French Commander-in-Chief in Northern Africa, has paid a twenty-four hours' visit to Rabat, according to a Havas telegram. He met the Sultan, and had conversations with various Moroccan notabilities.

The Estonian Government has dissolved the Kaitselit, a Fascist military organisation, it was announced by the Tallinn radio yesterday. The organisation owned military equipment.—(The Associated Press).

GREATER DUBLIN GROWS

HOWTH COUNCIL TO DISAPPEAR

TRIBUNAL'S REPORT SIDE-TRACKED

BY CIVIS.

YET another bill "to make further and better provision in relation to local government" in the Metropolitan County made its way almost furtively through the Dail last week. As the Minister for Local Government has assigned a reason why this latest measure should become law before the 15th instant, and as the important reason assigned seems to have escaped public attention, it may be well to trace the causes alleged for urgency.

Ten years ago, with due deliberation, a clause was inserted in the Greater Dublin Act (which brought Rathmines, Pembroke, and certain rural areas into the city, and which set up the managerial system) providing for quinquennial reviews of municipal boundaries and services. Under that provision the Minister for Local Government was compelled to set up an inquiry before the 15th of July, 1935. Should the Senate fail to pass the present bill during the coming fortnight it would be Mr. Ruttledge's statutory duty to appoint another tribunal. Faced by that obligation it was necessary to obtain parliamentary sanction for the repeal of the section of the 1930 Act which was agreed to as an essential condition of the Government's proposals.

"SLIM" TACTICS

While one hesitates to attribute "slim" tactics to a Minister or his officials, it seems to be evident that the immediate purpose of the present bill was not, as has been supposed, to incorporate Howth in the City, but quietly to slip through a serious amendment of the 1930 Act as a disguised addendum to a series of other proposals. The bill consists of 14 sections, the last of which, in a dozen harmless looking words, relieves the Minister of his obligation to give effect to the understanding arrived at in 1930.

Regard being had to the persistent way in which the successive Ministers of Local Government have dallied with the report of Mr. Justice Gavan Duffy and his colleagues (a report which drew words of warm praise and appreciation from Mr. Sean T. O'Kelly), it is not surprising that the present Minister and his advisers should now seek means to avoid the ridicule which would be forthcoming if another tribunal had to be set up to cover the same ground. Yet that is the position, unless, and until, the Senate approves the Government's latest hasty afterthought about Greater Dublin.

QUESTIONS FOR SENATE

That the Senate will feel constrained to meet the Minister's demands may probably be taken for granted. But is it not reasonable to hope that Senators will use to-morrow's opportunity to elicit some clear indications of the Government's intentions as to the reports which took more than three years to prepare, and which was acclaimed by Ministers and the public as the foundation document of a new civic edifice?

Even at the risk of repeating criticisms that have been frequently advanced, it may not be inopportune to remind Senators of a long series of changes that have been introduced since the Tribunal's plan of reform was tabled in December, 1938. Effected as last-moment amendments — admittedly afterthoughts—to the Public Assistance and County Management Bills, such changes have created a system and methods of administration which, as the Minister recognises, render further action more necessary than ever. Fortunately, the changes effected are not in conflict with the Tribunal's plan. Rather do they prepare the ground for its full acceptance and application. Pending that step, uncertainty, confusion and patchwork procedure must prevail in Dublin's whole system of local administration.

HOWTH'S REPRESENTATION

Meanwhile the decision to bring Howth into the city seems to suggest that the Government have decided either to side-track the Tribunal's report or indefinitely to postpone all plans for Metropolitan unification. Colour is given to such suspicions by the provisions of the bill (recently suspended because it is alleged to be contentious) which proposes to reconstitute Dublin's local authorities. (Vide the Irish Times of the 3rd and 7th of last May. Coupled with the decision to wipe out Howth Urban Council, without providing for local representation at Cork Hill, such procedure indicates either that some unrevealed plan of reconstruction is in existence, or that hand-to-mouth expedients are to determine the future of Greater Dublin.

LEGISLATIVE COBWEBS

From another aspect the recent outpourings of new measures and hastily drafted amendments have gone far to create a hopeless state of confusion in administrative circles. No sooner have measures become law than amending proposals make their appearance. Legislation by reference and cross-reference has created new levels of confusion. Recent bills, indeed, have been so presented as to suggest that Ministers' many hurried changes of policy and plans have overtaxed the vigilance even of the trained parliamentary draftsman. Not merely the layman but the trained lawyer consequently finds himself caught in networks of provisions that are sufficiently vague and complicated to excite the envy of the authors of crossword puzzles.

Thus the inevitable result that the practical purposes and effects of legislation are too often defeated by the vicious vagaries of patchwork procedure. Consulted recently upon what seemed to be a simple legal issue, a well-known lawyer was heard to admit that he had found himself "caught in the meshes of a cobweb that must have been spun by a badly intoxicated spider." If any reader doubts the justification of that simile, he may be invited to read and interpret the collective effects of the last two years' output of bills as they affect the administration of Dublin City and County. To expect public representatives to give practical effect to legislation which quite apparently taxes the ingenuity of the official hierarchy is surely to ask for the impossible!

PARISH COUNCIL FOR HOWTH

Now a very brief reference to the future of Howth. Seizing on the Government's commendation of parish councils, the Chairman of Howth Urban Council, whose death-warrant is about to be signed, has proposed the application of the "parish" principle to local needs and interests. An eminently desirable expedient, one thinks; but here again procrastination interposes serious difficulties. Had the bill which was introduced some weeks ago not been suspended, the Corporation would have been enabled to give official recognition and financial help to a parish or committee. But now the people of Howth and its surroundings must, apparently, submit to "taxation without representation" in the Municipal Council, and try to make their voices heard through the instruments of unofficial and self-supported ratepayers' committees.

20 YEARS OF AUTONOMY

Another reflection suggested by this latest identification of city and suburbs recalls the vigour with which Howth's residents twenty years ago pressed their claims for local autonomy. Twenty years during which the district's population and valuation have increased more rapidly than was anticipated by the most optimistic advocates of local independence. Yet twenty years during which the costs of autonomy have demonstrated the advantages of unification. Does not such experience apply to other coastal resorts and urbanised districts which the Greater Dublin Tribunal proposed to bring within the fold of a metropolitan authority? And, if so, why further delay? Perhaps, some Senator may feel sufficiently interested to put that question to Mr. Ruttledge!

BALBO'S SUCCESSOR IN LIBYA

THE "ITALIAN LYAUTEY"

Marshal Graziani, who has flown to Libya to take over command of the armed forces in Italian North Africa following the death of Marshal Balbo, has been described as the "Italian Lyautey."

He earned this title when, as Vice-Governor of Cyrenaica from 1930-1934, he took drastic measures to clean up the Senussi and other disaffected tribes and pacify the country. Nomadic tribes were rounded up in concentration camps far from their ordinary haunts. Many fled into Egypt rather than be transplanted thus from their ancestral lands.

After a period as Viceroy of Abyssinia following the Abyssinian war, he was appointed Chief of Staff in the autumn of last year. He is fifty-seven, and a personal friend of King Victor Emmanuel.

NEW ROME VERSION OF BALBO'S DEATH

A further statement concerning the death of Marshal Balbo was given by Rome Radio last night.

The Marshal had a few days ago promised some journalists that they would be given the opportunity of seeing the war at close quarters.

"While flying towards Tobruk the Marshal noticed that the anti-aircraft defences in that town were in action against enemy bombers. Without hesitation Marshal Balbo hurled himself against the enemy, but a hail of machine-gun bullets brought his 'plane down."

On Monday night a statement issued by the British Foreign Office said that careful investigation shows that no British aircraft were concerned in the crash of Marshal Balbo's machine.—(P.A. War Special.)

OBITUARY

DR. E. G. C. POOLE

Dr. Edgar Girard Croker Poole, D.Phil., Fellow and Lecturer at New College, Oxford, who was found dead in his rooms at the College on Friday last, had been Fellow and Lecturer of the College since 1920, says The Times. Dr. Poole, who was 49 years old, was born at Limerick and was the son of Major W. C. Poole, R.A.M.C. He was educated at Rugby and at Queen's College, Oxford, where he was a scholar. He was a member of the Council of the London Mathematical Society from 1927 to 1931, and since 1938, and University Lecturer in Mathematics from 1930 to 1935. Dr. Poole was a Fellow of the Royal Astronomical Society and was the author of a number of works on mathematics. He was unmarried.

INDIAN CONGRESS MEETING

"NO GROUND FOR OPTIMISM"

PRESS ASSOCIATION FOREIGN SPECIAL.

BOMBAY, Monday.

The unexpected summoning of the Congress Working Committee to meet Mr. Gandhi next Wednesday has aroused considerable speculation. In some quarters it is suggested that the meeting is to consider proposals for the settlement of political differences that may have emerged in the talks between Mr. Gandhi and the Viceroy last Saturday. This suggestion, however, is discounted in circles closely in touch with the Mahatma. They say that the meeting has merely been advanced from July 7 to July 3, as both Mr. Gandhi and President Azad are in Delhi, and it will avoid an unnecessary journey to Wardha for the President who is unwell. One of Mr. Gandhi's secretaries said that he could not disclose the nature of the conversations at Simla, but there was no ground for any optimism regarding a settlement.

WEDDING

MR. S. P. WOODS AND A. NI CONAILL

The marriage was celebrated at the Pro-Cathedral, Dublin, by the Rev. Father Boylan, Adm., with Nuptial Mass and Papal Blessing, of Sean Peter, eldest son of William and Nora Woods, East road, North Wall, Dublin, and Aine. elder daughter of Mrs. Margaret and the late Michael MacConaill, Martinstown, Athboy, Co Meath.

The bride wore a gown of heavy pearl satin, cut on Grecian lines, and carried a bouquet of red roses. She was attended by two bridesmaids—Miss A. Connolly and Miss Eileen Wooloughan (cousin of the bridegroom)—who wore pale green and lilac muslin gowns. Both carried bouquets of sweet pea.

Dermot Woods was best man and the groomsman was Mr. Albert J. Healy.

The bride is known as one of the foremost traditional Irish singers.

Her travelling outfit was a smart tailor-made of purple checked tweed. The honeymoon was spent in the South of Ireland.

FREE-FRENCH NAVAL FORCES

VICE-ADMIRAL TAKES COMMAND

General de Gaulle, leader of the French Volunteer Legion, announced last night that he has appointed Vice-Admiral Muselier to be Commander of the free-French naval forces. He will also take over command of the free-French Air force.

There are already several ships and several Air groups under the Vice-Admiral's command.

Vice-Admiral Muselier was a collaborator of M. Clemenceau in 1917-18. After the war he commanded the Second Cruiser Squadron of the Mediterranean Fleet, and until 1918 was in charge of the naval and coast defences at Marseilles.

Vice-Admiral Muselier made a thrilling escape from France. He was at Bordeaux on June 10 in charge of factories working for national defence, and when he heard of the pending armistice he drove all night to Paris. On arrival at the capital almost simultaneously with the entrance of the German troops, he managed to destroy several secret plans and plant in national defence factories before the Germans occupied the city.

He escaped from Paris, using abandoned private cars. He also made use of lorries, a horse-driven car and even a fire-engine before he reached Marseilles. There he rallied several naval officers and men, manned a warship and sailed to Gibraltar.

After a few days at Gibraltar he flew to Britain to join General de Gaulle.

BALTIC ENVOYS GO TO MOSCOW

The Moscow radio announced yesterday visits of Baltic Envoys to Moscow. It stated that Herr Bohfman, the Swedish Foreign Under Secretary, had arrived in the Soviet capital by air, Dr. Mickovicius, the new Vice-Premier and Foreign Minister of Lithuania, was on his way, and a Norwegian trade mission had left. A Danish trade mission was already in Moscow for talks.—(The Associated Press.)

Military Governor Suggested.—Alderman Thomas Henderson, M.P., at a meeting of the Belfast Corporation yesterday, said that it was an opportune time for the Corporation to make representations to the Northern Prime Minister with a view to having a Military Governor appointed for Northern Ireland for the supervision of the various A.R.P. and other services.

BRITISH PRIMATE'S CALL TO PRAYER

"THE TIME OF TESTING HAS COME"

The Archbishops of Canterbury and York, in a message to the British nation yesterday, urged that in this time of testing all those who believe in God should make a momentary act of remembrance and prayer daily at noon. The message states:—

"The enemy is at the gate. A time of testing has come to this nation, more severe and searching than ever before in the long story of its life. How shall we meet the test?

"In the last resort it is upon the spirit of the whole nation, of every man and woman within it, that the issue will depend. The enemy knows this. His aim will be to break that spirit. He will try to spread fear. There is one power which can always overcome fear. It is faith—faith in God, faith that God reigns.

"We who send this message ask that, daily at noon, our fellow-citizens who believe in God should, in the midst of their work, whatever it may be make a momentary act of remembrance and prayer.

"We are authorised to say that the adoption of this suggestion whenever it may be practicable, commends itself warmly to His Majesty the King."

DROGHEDA HOLD-UP

THIEVES GET AWAY WITH £21

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

DROGHEDA, Monday.

Two men entered the local branch of Messrs. Imco, dyers and cleaners, to-day, and asked the girl behind the counter if they could see the manager. When she replied that she was in charge they told her to hand out all the money she had. The girl, Miss Teresa Hastings, complied with the demand, and the thieves left immediately with £21. They drove away in a motor car, and when Miss Hastings had recovered from the shock she reported the matter to the Drogheda Guards, who are busily investigating the matter. The men produced no weapons.

GAIETY THEATRE

"CHARLEY'S AUNT"

Even in his most sanguine moments Brandon Thomas could not have anticipated that his farce, "Charley's Aunt," would continue to raise laughter almost half a century after it had been written. "Charley's Aunt" was first produced at the Royalty Theatre, London, on December 21st, 1892. After that production it was apparently forgotten by London until it was revived at the Great Queen Street Theatre in July, 1901. Since that time it has had a London season almost every year, and has been produced in virtually every country in the world.

The majority of last night's audience at the Gaiety Theatre must have seen the play before—some of them many times—but it seemed as fresh and as amusing as ever. The one thing needed to "put over" this farce is a good company—and the group of players at the Gaiety already have proved themselves capable artists. They handled the play brightly, played it well, and sometimes had their lines nearly drowned by the laughter. John Gill made an admirable "Aunt": he had caught all the tricks of the famous "Aunts" of the past, and made good use of them—it was a clever performance. Lodge Percy's study of the solicitor, Stephen Spettigue, who became so sentimental over the fortune attached to Charley's aunt, was grand fun, and so was Norman Chidgey's interpretation of the soldierly Sir Francis Chesney. David Russell and James Garvey gave good typical performances of the pair of undergraduates, while their "girl friends" were Margery Weston and Melina Dingwall. Frederick Victor's college scout was another good characterisation, and, of course, Donna Lucia d'Alvadorez was neatly played by Peggy O'Dare. The whole company had the proper spirit for this farce—our fathers laughed at it, and, no doubt, so will our children. In the meantime we can get a good laugh at it ourselves.

THEATRE ROYAL

"EIRE'S NEW COMPOSERS"

The Theatre Royal, in search of new Irish talent in song composition, are inviting the public to judge the merits of the works of four artistes who are appearing this week. The authors are presented by Niall Boden, and last night they played and sang their own compositions, which varied in theme from sentimental to comic. The fact that it is the composition, and not the rendering of it, that is to be taken into consideration by the adjudicators is in favour of the composers.

The Mahoney Brothers presented a very amusing pantomime act, full of fun and conjuring. Tommy Byrne, a boy soprano, was one of the most enjoyable singers of the evening. He has a voice of beautiful tone and elasticity, which won for him sustained applause. He is one of the Theatre Royal discoveries.

Another delightful entertainment was provided by Jimmy Campbell and the Theatre Royal Orchestra, with Eily Murnaghan and Louis Murray. It included selections from musical comedies, and the solo parts enhanced the beauty of the performance. A. Gordon Spicer played a number of pieces with finished artistry, and the Twelve Royal Violettes gave an exhibition of graceful and colourful dancing. The film, "Road to Singapore," was included in the programme.

BRITISH BASE IMPROVES DEFENCES

PRESS ASSOCIATION WAR SPECIAL.

SINGAPORE, Monday.

"In view of the general situation prevailing in the Far East, steps are being taken," says an official communiqué "to bring Singapore's defences to a higher state of preparedness. Defence plans are also being completed in Penang and throughout Malaya."

The communiqué states that these steps should not be interpreted as indicating that any immediate danger is feared. They are taken solely as normal military precautions, which are necessary at the present time.

JAPANESE ON INDO-CHINA BORDER

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

TOKYO, Monday.

Japanese advanced troops entered Lungchow, the important border town in South-West Kwangsi Province, to-day, according to Japanese reports received by the Domei Agency from Nanking. Lungchow is only about 20 miles from the frontier of French Indo-China.

40 Belfast Arrests.—The Belfast police yesterday morning raided a number of houses in Belfast and detained forty men under the Civil Authorities Special Powers Act. Most of the men were taken from their beds.

FOLLOW NATURE'S PATH.

Harsh purgatives do cause serious damage to the delicate linings of the stomach, and, further, they soon lose their effect. How different is Eno's Fruit Salt; working on the natural principle of "osmosis" Eno's gently, surely seeks out and eliminates toxins and waste matter. Your eye and brain are clearer and brighter in a few minutes, life seems better and is better because you have joined the healthy ranks of those who take Eno's first thing every morning.

TRAMORE PROGRAMME

Good Sport Promised at the Seaside Venue

Trains, Kingsbridge, 7.15 a.m., 9.30 a.m.

A ONE-DAY meeting at Tramore in July is an innovation, and will, we think, be made a regular fixture; for there are few more suitable venues for a day's racing at this period of the year than the popular County Waterford seaside resort. The programme is a varied one, and with plenty of runners declared for the various races an entertaining afternoon's sport is assured.

Tote double on third and fifth races.

Of the twelve horses entered for the Castletown Hurdle only Olive's Pet and Cooline Boy are missing from the declared runners, but Rathfadden may start for the Tramore Plate, which he should win. In his absence Sarawaki may be best to stand for the Castletown Plate. Selections:—

Castletown Plate—Sarawaki.
Atlantic Plate—Barrymore.
Tramore Plate—Rathfadden.
Maddenstown Plate—Lady Adele.
County Plate—Dakota Star.
Seaside Plate—Dawmar.

TOTE DOUBLE:

SCHOOLS' MATCH DRAWN AT BELFAST

LIDDELL AND WARREN SCORE FREELY

The Schools' Interprovincial match between Ulster and Leinster at Belfast was restricted to one day, but the conditions prevented more than about four hours' play. Each side batted a couple of hours, and the result was a draw. The bowlers were handicapped, and when Leinster batted Liddell and Warren had 80 on the board before they were parted. K. Quinn also batted well, and a declaration was made at 128 for 3. The home side lost a wicket in the first over, but Heaney and Tweedie made a stand which put on 63, 42 coming from Tweedie, who hit hard in front of the wicket. Scores:—

The inter-club contest under the laws of the A.A.U.E. will take place next Saturday in the College Park. Two representatives from each club will take part in the following events:—100, 220, 440, and 880 Yards; One Mile, Three Miles, Hurdles, Long Jump, High Jump, Shot, Javelin, and Relay Race (4 at 440 yards). Club secretaries are notified that entries close with the Hon. Secretary, Moran's Hotel, Dublin, by first post to-morrow morning.

The North v. South contest, which was fixed for next Saturday, has been unavoidably postponed to a date to be arranged, probably in August.

GOLF

THE JOHN LUMSDEN MEMORIAL CUP

FIRST ROUND MATCHES AT THE GRANGE

BY OUR GOLF CORRESPONDENT.

Nineteen matches in the first round of the John Lumsden Memorial Cup were played last evening at the Grange—there were half a dozen withdrawals—and the survivors go into the second stage on Wednesday, when the first match, J. A. Trotter v. A. O'Malley, will start at 5 o'clock.

Most of the matches were won by wide margins, and we had a few surprises, one being the 4 and 3 win of Dr. Maurice O'Brien (Milltown) over J. Malone of Dun Laoghaire, whose play in the Close championship at Dollymount created a distinctly favourable impression. The winner, who has a handicap of 1, played excellent golf, and likely will go far.

A couple of matches went to the 19th, but the longest was fought between F. X. Kelly, of Portmarnock, and Sean Mullen, of Royal Dublin. It finished at the 23rd, where Mullen won. There Kelly was bunkered off a too low shot from the left. Mullen, in the middle of the fairway, fluffed his pitch, but he tried his third at the holeside, and Kelly's recovery, although a good one, left him two yards from the hole, and he failed to get the necessary 4 for a half.

The Kilkenny player, J. Lyons, had a really good win from E. A. Spratt (Royal Dublin), the margin being 4 and 3. The Rugby internationalist, F. G. Moran, had a hard match with J. B. Supple (Royal Dublin), which Moran won on the home green and M. J. Byrne and "L. A. Brassie," a well-known Newlands-Portmarnock player, battled it out to the 19th, where Byrne got through. Newland's flag, however, was kept flying by J. P. Cummins, who put up sound golf against Dr. Davidson to win at the 13th green. Results were:—

FIRST ROUND

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL

GAME IN CONNACHT

DISTRICT COMMITTEES TO HAVE CONTROL

A decision to suspend the constitution of the Connacht Football Association for one year was arrived at after a four-hour discussion, which was marked by heated scenes at the annual meeting of that body in Galway. For the coming season the work of the Association will be carried on by two district committees functioning in Galway and district and Sligo and district, each having full autonomy over its own area. All divisional competitions will be controlled by a committee, comprising the two junior representatives and the senior representative from Connacht, in conjunction with Mr. J. I. Wickham, secretary, F.A.I. This committee will meet in Dublin. Mr. J. Owens (Galway) was appointed senior representative, and Messrs. J. Mullen (Galway) and W. Bradley (Sligo) junior representatives.

It was stated at the meeting that the number of clubs in Connacht had dwindled from 32 in 1935-36 to 17 last season.

ANGLING

BUNDORAN COMPETITION

The competition organised by the Bundoran and District Anglers' Club in connection with the Bundoran Carnival was held at Lough Melvin. First prize, the Moore Cup, was won by Mr. Doyle, Ballyshannon, with a catch of five trout (2lb. 12ozs.); second prize went to Mr. Reece, Belcoo, with four fish (1lb. 8ozs.); third to Mr. G. Wilson, Manorhamilton, two fish (1lb.); and fourth to Mr. E. Condon, Ballyshannon, two fish (14ozs.).

THE IRISH OAKS

FRANK BUTTERS MAY HAVE TWO RUNNERS

NEWMARKET, Monday.

Having won the Irish Derby for the Aga Khan with Turkhan, Frank Butters is preparing Queen of Shiraz and Alrabia for the Irish Oaks, which is decided on July 24. A gallop over the week-end suggests that Queen of Shiraz will carry the Aga Khan's colours prominently, and the daughter of Bahram and Qurrat Al Ain may prove good enough to complete the classic double for the Fitzroy House Stable.

Earlier in the season she had given her trainer some trouble with one of her limbs, but that seems to be thoroughly sound at the moment. Although Queen of Shiraz finished a long way behind Godiva in the New Oaks, she ran better than is generally thought, and is, no doubt, a better filly now.

GALWAY HARBOUR SCHEME

ENGINEER'S ALLEGED STATEMENT

Writing on June 28, 1940, Mr. John C. O'Donnell, solicitor, Mary street, Galway, says:—

I have been consulted by Mr. H. McCullagh, B.E., acting resident engineer on the Galway Harbour scheme, in connection with a report appearing in your issue of the 27th inst. of a meeting of the Galway Harbour Commissioners, wherein my client is reported as having stated that Messrs. Associated Contractors (Ireland), Ltd., were at present dependent on money drawn as a result of certificates issued by Sir Cyril Kilpatrick. My client instructs me that he did not make such a statement or any statement that might in any way reflect on the financial capacity of this company. He instructs me that the report is misleading, and is not an accurate report of the discussion that took place in connection with the matter.

He is also reported as having stated that the Galway Harbour scheme would be completed by the 31st December. The actual date stated was the 30th September. Messrs. Associated Contractors (Ireland), Ltd., consider that as a result of the publication of this report their credit is likely to be seriously damaged. My client's position is also serious in view of the publication of this alleged statement, which he strongly denies having made. I am, therefore, requested to ask you to publish at the earliest possible moment my client's complete denial of having made the statement alleged, or any statement which could possibly reflect on the financial capacity of Messrs. Associated Contractors (Ireland), Ltd. At a special meeting held here to-day of the Galway Harbour Commissioners it was denied by the Commissioners that Mr. McCullagh made the statement alleged to have been made.
